Mrs. Walter Liggett On Witness Stand At Murder Trial

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Mrs. Edith Liggett, widow of the late Walter Liggett, today testified at the trial of Isaac Blum, charged with the murder of her husband, that "Governor Olson's gang" had "ordered or permitted" the killing and then described faces "glaring" into the office of the newspaper.

Returning to the witness stand to resume testimony after a collapse earlier in the day, the black garbed widow related identification of Blum as the man who had been seen in the office of the newspaper.

She also testified her husband's head was in a position about 10 feet from her as she stepped from the family automobile after the "murder" and she had seen Blum "glaring" at her.

Governor Horner Asks 16 Prominent Men To Examine Entire State Penal System

By C. R. Hay Associated Press Staff Writer Springfield, Ill., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Sixteen prominent men were invited by Gov. Henry Horner tonight to serve on a board empowered to examine the entire state penal system, to consider all charges leveled against it and recommend any improvements deemed necessary.

The governor addressed letters of invitation to each of the 16 after a five-hour conference with A. L. Bowen, state director of public welfare.

Bowen returned from the Stateville branch penitentiary at Joliet, after making an inquiry into the death of Richard (Dickie) Loeb, co-slayer of Bobby Franks in 1924 who was hanged to death Tuesday by convict James Day.

Bowen's investigation of the Loeb killing was at the governor's behest. He appeared at Joliet as a member of the governor's cabinet with orders to deliver completely into the razor killing of Loeb by Day and to "spare no one."

Several prominent penologists, criminologists, law enforcement officials, industrialists and clerics were included in the 16 prospective members of the investigating committee to whom Governor Horner wrote.

They included: Sanford Bates, director of federal prisons, Washington; Lewis Lawes, warden of Sing Sing prison, New York State; Albert D. Lasker, former chairman of the United States shipping board; Roy Beck, warden of the Colorado state prison at Canon City.

States Attorney Thomas J. Courtney of Cook county (Chicago); Oscar Lee, warden of Waupun State prison, Wisconsin; Dr. Preston Bradley, pastor of People's church, Chicago.

Bishop J. H. Schlarman of the Peoria Catholic diocese; Robert L. Kern, Belleville, Ill., editor; Judge John P. LEADERS SEEK FDR INFLATION, NEW TAX PLANS

President May Call His Advisers Into Conference

Washington, Feb. 2.—(AP)—Congressional leaders with an eye to growing demand for inflation, looked directly toward the White House tonight for signs of an official presidential pronouncement on tax plans for the session.

Out of the general confusion at the Capitol as to the final outcome of the tax-inflation situation, two impressions emerged. There was a general understanding that the president would call his advisers into conference, probably later in the week, to outline his tax views.

Secondly, word was circulated that Mr. Roosevelt had reached no final decision as to whether new taxes to liquidate the bonus would be asked at this time, and that such a request might be deferred.

Although a suggestion rested at the White House for a $250,000,000 a year tax program to reimburse the treasury for its bonus payments by 1945, more than one legislator argued today that the administration would seek only $500,000,000 in taxes, probably as excise levies, to finance the new farm program.

The understanding prevailed among leaders that no move would be made at either the White House or Capitol until Chairman Doughton of the House Ways and Means committee returns Wednesday from his North Carolina home. His committee shares all tax measures on the journey through Congress.

No immediate pickup in the inflation drive appeared imminent. Representative Patman (D-Tex.) was expected, however, to assemble some of the currency expansion bloc tomorrow to select a special steering committee to guide his campaign for payment of the bonus through the passage of new money.

GENERAL STRIKE IS ORDERED BY PEKIN UNIONS

3,000 Workers Will Be Affected By Order

Peking, Ill., Feb. 3.—(AP)—The Pekin Trades Assembly tonight ordered a general strike of all union workers in Pekin, effective at 8 a. m. tomorrow in an attempt to force settlement of the strike at the American Distilling company here.

Union leaders announced the strike would affect approximately 3,000 workers, including barbers, bartenders and motion picture operators.

The general strike call was issued upon all a meeting of the assembly, called by union pickets, clashed twice with deputy sheriffs in front of the distilling plant today.

At the same time the assembly adopted a resolution demanding the resignation of Pekin's Chief of Police, Harry Donahue, on the grounds he had fought the distillery pickets with tear gas.

A labor demonstration was scheduled for Tuesday, but no time was set for it. Union leaders said they hoped by a show of strength to end the distillery strike in short order.

With the strike call came a request that Mayor Shuman resign, and from his office, but from a citizens committee which has been investigating the labor trouble at the distillery.

The distillery strike had closed the plant for two weeks. Today the plant reopened, and a force of about 100 pickets fought to keep workers from entering. Tear gas was used to disperse the attacks on automobiles entering the gates. Six persons were injured.

Pekin has a number of industries which may be affected in varying degrees by the general strike. Among them are the Corn Products Refining company, Standard Brands, Inc., a leather works and an organ factory.

National Guard troops assembled at nearby Peoria for their regular drill were reported to have been ordered to stand at night in their quarters.

The strike at the distillery has been in progress for several weeks. Immediately before the first of the year a hearing on strikers' demands for union recognition and reinstatement of several employees allegedly dismissed for union activities was held by the National Labor Relations Board. No formal report on this hearing has been issued.

GOP "Harmony" Conference Pledges Its Support To The Winning Primary Candidate

By Robert P. Howard Associated Press Staff Writer Springfield, Ill., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Adoption of a resolution pledging Republicans to support the winning primary candidates was the only positive action taken at the "harmony" conference of downstate county chairmen today.

Supporters of C. Wayland Brooks, of Chicago, who has the support of a faction of the Cook county committee, sponsored the resolution, which avoided any pre-primary endorsements.

Delegates at the unofficial meeting then defeated another resolution asking the ten or more GOP candidates for governor to end factionalism by setting together and deciding which one would stay in the primary race.

With Brooks on friendly terms with a large group of the county chairmen, no effort was made to place the meeting on record as favoring a downstate candidate for governor.

Paul Samuel, of Jacksonville, and other members of the harmony committee indicated they did not plan further meetings.

The five downstate gubernatorial candidates present made no comment following the conference.

The resolution adopted said the Democratic party, "through its dictatorial policies x x x has fostered the creation of class prejudices" and declared:

"It is essential for victory for the Republican party in the state and nation that no such prejudice or distinction be created or permitted within the ranks of a united Republican party."

"We believe it to be in the best interests of the Republican party and the voters of this state that we adhere strictly to the principles and true spirit of the primary law."

It pledged the Republicans to do nothing to violate the "true spirit and intent" of the primary law and also to support all nominees "irrespective of faction or said nominee's place of residence."

Brooks set up campaign headquarters here yesterday and said he has the support of more than forty of the downstate chairmen.

10,000 BRITISH MEAT WORKERS GO ON STRIKE

Southern England Is Threatened With Meatless Menus

London, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Meatless menus faced much of Southern England tonight because of a strike by Smithfield market's 10,000 workers, that large army of burly men who for some reason wear straw sunhat hats all the year-round.

Practically none of the 3,000 tons of meat that is daily supplied to London from this market, the world's largest, moved today.

The strike, it was believed, might even spread to dock and railway workers.

It sprang from dissatisfaction with what the men called unnecessary delay by a conciliation board handling their demands for more money.

At a mass meeting tonight, the meat strikers decided not to return to work.

Evening newspapers published menus on "what to eat if you cannot get meat." The strike this far has not materially affected London housewives or restaurants, but their position likely will be serious if a settlement is not reached soon.

Meat now laid up will spoil. Shortly after midnight Sunday 3,500 shopmen walked out and picketed the vast market. They persuaded 1,200 "pitchers"—men who unload the vans—to cease work and the cold storage hands followed suit.

The idle workers hung around the huge market, singing songs as "back up your troubles" and "Rain, Britannia." Police reinforcements were on duty in this area.

Efforts at conciliation this morning were ended temporarily with the statement the parties were "hopelessly divided."

"If the strike lasts, London will be meatless," said H. W. Millman, superintendent of the market.

The strikers are demanding a minimum weekly wage of four pounds (about $20), a weeks' vacation with pay, and a 40-hour, five-day week.

GRAND JURY WILL PROBE LOEB MURDER

Jurors Will Be Asked To Indict James Day, Slayer

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Circuit Judge F. I. Wilson today set Feb. 17 for the opening of a Will County grand jury to ascertain whether evidence trained convict Richard Loeb was executed in a "deliberate murder plot" engineered by inmate enemies in Stateville prison or was hacked to death in a private quarrel with prisoner James Day.

Judge Wilson said he had requested the grand jury to inquire into the murder of Loeb, who was hanged to death Tuesday by convict James Day.

McCauley said information furnished by one of two convicts he had questioned "may lead to the real motive." He promised to interrogate other prisoners in an effort to develop that angle.

He told reporters his trip to the penitentiary today had produced new evidence that Loeb was killed in a carefully planned conspiracy.

McCauley, formerly of Day's contention that the new Loeb became the 1934 "thrill killer" had made no proper advance told reporters he would question the convicts after he had drafted a series of questions.

The state's attorney disclosed an unnamed guard, recently discharged, had informed him of a plot by Loeb to convict companions to use explosives in an attempt to escape. But he declined to go further along that avenue after penitentiary officials declared the story had no foundation in fact.

Joseph J. Hagen said inmates were allowed very limited quantities of celluloid to fashion various trinkets but that they possessed insufficient amounts to constitute a peril.

McCauley threw down reports that the National League Party of Lewis in the murder of Bobby Franks, was in "grave danger" of attack by other prisoners.

Experts Debate Oil Sanctions Against Italy

Member Of Committee Favors Drafting Two Reports

Geneva, Feb. 3.—(AP)—A committee of experts of the League of Nations began today the work of deciding whether an oil embargo against Italy is workable.

A leading member of the committee said privately he favored drafting two reports to the League Council.

One would show the practicability of an oil embargo if the United States imposed an oil embargo against Italy; the second would show what effect the embargo would have if Washington did not declare such a boycott.

Virginia Gov. E. A. Tamm, in an editorial article and friends of Premier Mussolini, warned in an article in Rome today that an oil embargo would mean a blockade and a blockade would precipitate a world war.

New Cold Wave Sweeping East Forecast Says

Weather Believes New Sub Zero Cold Will Last Several Days

Chicago, Feb. 3.—(AP)—The invariable Mackinac river basin showed another cold wave sweeping eastward tonight after most of the nation enjoyed a "treasure hunt" from the Arctic weather of the past fortnight.

Except in the Rocky Mountain country where near blizzard conditions accompanied readings as low as 18 below at Beaver, Mont., comparative mildness prevailed. Snowstorms and rain were widespread over the eastern half of the country.

In 20 degree weather, a heavy snow began falling in Chicago and the central region forecasters' office said it might reach blizzard proportions to be followed late Tuesday by a recurrence of sub zero cold. The new cold snap the forecasters said, probably would stay for several days.

Iowans were still concerned about the possibility of a coal shortage and Gen. Clyde Herring said the miners would be asked to work again next Saturday—40 hours—if a survey by labor organizers failed to show that emergency mining will be needed to replenish empty coal bins.

An offer from Scranton, Pa., 2,500,000 tons of anthracite coal was available for shipment to midwest communities brought from Herring the comment that the interest was appreciated but that its cost would be prohibitive.

Reports from financial centers said the foreign exchange market apparently had been influenced by the drive in Congress for printing press money, instead of taxes, for paying the soldiers' bonus and farm subsidies.

But Secretary Morgenthau restricted comment merely to saying the French franc had risen to the point where banks could profit by exporting gold.

If the train staves above the gold point he said, further shipments would be permitted as long as present exchange mechanisms are undisturbed.

Seven Workmen Perish In Fire At Dormitory

Were Employed By Contractor Building Parker Dam In Colorado River

Los Angeles, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Seven of 30 workmen sleeping in a dormitory at the Parker Dam construction camp perished today in a fire that trapped them in their bunks.

Two other workmen suffered critical burns and 16 more were given hospital treatment.

Bodies of the victims were placed in a temporary morgue at the camp, 250 miles east of here in the Colorado river. All doctors and nurses in the area were summoned.

The dormitory and mess hall, also destroyed, were operated by Anderson Bros., sub-contractors for the six companies, builders of the dam. It was said by Los Angeles officials of the Metropolitan water district of southern California. The water district let the contract for the dam construction.

The fire victims died in their beds. Those who escaped jumped through windows. Five men in an adjoining dormitory escaped through the entire fire.

Frank Crowe, superintendent of six companies, said that damage would approximate $100,000. He expressed amazement that the workmen should have been trapped and said that all the dormitory windows opened on the outside.

Crowe said the victims were employed recently and that none of them had worked at Boulder Dam, where six companies built.

ASSOCIATION MUST SURRENDER CHARTER

Chicago, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Terminating its sponsors "misguided idealists," Circuit Judge Harry M. Fisher today ordered the Universal Service Association to surrender its charter.

The court's action was a body blow to "philosophy, the science of plenty for all."

Under its optimistic theory of economics, the Universal Service Association was operating farms at Princeton and Downers Grove, Ill., and Charleston, Ind., hoping testimony brought out to pay its 1,000 members about 30 per cent "natural increase" on their investments.

M. Raymond Waldenstrom, assistant attorney general, presented an exhibit today showing that during two years of operation the "philosophers" had collected $17,000, while their deficit was $20,500.

The state brought suit to dissolve the association on the ground it was conducting an investment business with organized as a non-profit corporation.

Federal Men Have Joined Search For Monroe, Wis., Man

Bloodstained Automobile Found Abandoned In Chicago "Loop"

Chicago, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Federal agents joined Chicago and Wisconsin authorities tonight in the search for Harry H. Wells, missing from his Monroe, Wis., home since last Tuesday.

His bloodstained car was found abandoned near the Loop Saturday and this morning a bunch of keys bearing his name were recovered from a man, who had them last Wednesday on Sheridan road near the Chicago-Evanston boundary line.

The inter-lates aspect of the investigation was believed to have led the "G men" into the hunt for Wells, who left home on business last Tuesday and has not been heard from since.

He left a considerable sum of money. He said relatives he had recently been recipient of demands from extortionists.

Federal authorities pointed out that a Lindbergh law violation might be involved if an interstate abduction had been consummated.

Another development came when a woman phoned police, described a chase involving two cars, one of which answered the description of Wells and the curbing of the smaller machine, presumably his, near the spot where the bunch of keys were picked up last Wednesday.

The woman who declined to give her name said the case occurred either Tuesday or Wednesday night, she professed to be uncertain which.

In the abandoned car, authorities found a number of business cards, a notebook and other memoranda owned by the missing man. Police said the papers appeared to have been taken from the wallet, which was not recovered, and thrown back into the glove compartment of the machine.

WIDOW DECLARES OLSON'S 'GANG' KILLED HUSBAND

Mrs. Walter Liggett On Witness Stand At Murder Trial

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Mrs. Edith Liggett, widow of the late Walter Liggett, today dramatically testified at the trial of Isadore Blumhelf, on trial for Liggett's slaying, that "Governor Olson's gang" had "ordered or permitted" the killing and then described faces "glaring" into the office of the newspaper.

Returning to the witness stand to resume testimony after a collapse earlier in the day, the black garbed widow reiterated identification of Blumhelf as the grinning machine gunner she had seen firing at her husband.

Mrs. Liggett named "Philip Share" as one of a number of criminals "she had seen peering into the offices of the Minneapolis American several weeks prior to the Liggett killing."

Calm and composed after collapsing from the strain of her long testimony at the morning session, the frail, 35-year-old mother of two children kept her composure during cross-examination this afternoon.

To a defense question as to the identity of the men she saw loitering near the office, Mrs. Liggett answered, "Philip Share," adding that "a number of criminals in Minneapolis would come there to glare at the office."

She also testified her husband's head was in a position about 16 feet from her as she sought to enter the family automobile after the "grinning" killer she has identified as "Blumhelf" fired five machine gun bullets into Liggett's body from a passing car.

"The murder would not have been committed without Governor Olson's permission," she told a crowded courtroom.

I called my mother after Walter was shot," Mrs. Liggett testified, "and said, 'Governor Olson's gang got Walter, mother.'"

"She asked you know who did it?" And I said, "Yes, Kid Cain," I remembered a former pugilist and bootlegger, was known as Kid Cain."

At Rochester, where he is recuperating from an operation, Gov. Olson said he had no statement to make. "They're trying the case up there in Minneapolis," was his only comment.

On both occasions that President Coolidge nominated him for Attorney General the Senate refused confirmation, because of his connection with sugar interests that then were under fire by the federal trade commission.

Governor Horner Asks 16 LEADERS SEEK FDR INFLATION, NEW TAX PLANS

Prominent Men To Examine Entire State Penal System

By C. R. Hay
Associated Press Staff Writer
Springfield, Ill., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Sixteen prominent men were invited by Gov. Henry Horner tonight to serve on a board empowered to examine the entire state penal system, to consider all charges leveled against it and recommend any improvements deemed necessary.

The governor addressed letters of invitation to each of the 16 after a five-hour conference with A. L. Bowen, state director of public welfare.

Bowen returned from the Stateville branch penitentiary at Joliet, after making an inquiry into the death of Richard (Dickie) Loeb, co-slayer of Bobby Franks in 1924, who was hanged to death Tuesday by convict James Day.

The governor said the committee would be a voluntary group, would decide on its own procedural methods and its members would serve without compensation but with expenses paid by the state.

They included: Sanford Bates, director of federal prisons, Washington; Lewis Lawes, warden of Sing Sing prison, New York State; Albert D. Lasker, former chairman of the United States shipping board; Roy Best, warden of the Colorado state prison at Canon City.

Oil tankers loomed up in today's discussions as a potent problem, in view of the belief that an oil embargo, to be effective, must embrace tankers as well as oil.

The experts want to know how many tankers of non-league states would be available for Italy in case the embargo is applied. Some members argued that non-league countries, such as the United States, could lease tankers to Italy and then charter vessels from sancti onist countries for their own use.

A sub-committee was appointed to study possible substitutes for oil, while a transport committee will investigate the question of oil ports to determine possible leakage points and means of plugging them up.

McCabe said information furnished by one of two convicts he had questioned "may lead to the real motive." He promised to interrogate other prisoners in an effort to develop that angle.

He told reporters his visit to the penitentiary today had produced new evidence that Loeb was killed in a carefully planned conspiracy.

McCabe, frankly skeptical of Day's contention that he slew Loeb because the 1934 "thrill killer" had made improper advances, told reporters he would question the confessed killer under a lie detector as soon as he had drafted a series of questions.

The State's Attorney disclosed an unnamed guard, recently discharged, had informed him of a plot by Loeb's convict companions to use explosives, compounded of stolen celluloid in an attempt to escape. But he proceeded no further along that avenue after penitentiary officials declared the story had no foundation in fact.

Warren Joseph Ragen said inmates were allowed very limited quantities of celluloid to fashion various trinkets but that they possessed insufficient amounts to constitute a peril.

McCabe threw down reports that Nathan Leopold, partner of Loeb in the murder of Bobby Franks, was in "grave danger" of attack by other prisoners.

Experts Debate Oil Sanctions Against Italy

Member Of Committee Favors Drafting Two Reports

Geneva, Feb. 3.—(AP)—A committee of experts of the League of Nations began today the work of deciding whether an oil embargo against Italy is workable.

A leading member of the committee said privately he favored drafting two reports to the League Council.

One would show the practicability of an oil sanction if the United States imposed an oil embargo against Italy; the second would show what effect the sanction would have if Washington did not declare such a boycott.

Virginia Gayda, informed Italian editorial writer and friends of Premier Mussolini, warned in an article in Rome today that an oil embargo would mean a blockade and a blockade would precipitate a world war.

President May Call 3,000 Workers Will Be Affected By Order

Washington, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Congressional leaders with an eye to growing demands for inflation, looked directly toward the White House tonight for signs of an official presidential pronouncement on tax plans for the session.

Out of the general confusion at the Capitol as to the final outcome of the tax-inflation situation, two impressions emerged. There was a general understanding that the president would call his advisers into conference, probably later in the week, to outline his tax views.

Secondly, it was circulated that Mr. Roosevelt had reached no final decision as to whether new taxes to liquidate the bonus would be asked at this time, and that such a request might be delayed.

Although a suggestion rested at the White House for a $230,000,000 a year tax program to reimburse the treasury for its bonus payments by 1945, more than one legislator argued today that the administration would seek only $500,000,000 in taxes, probably as excise levies.

The understanding prevailed among leaders that no move would be made at either the White House or Capitol until Chairman Doughton of the House Ways and Means committee returns Wednesday from his North Carolina home. His committee starts all tax measures on the journey through congress.

No immediate pickup in the inflation drive appeared imminent. Representative Patman (D-Tex.) was expected, however, to assemble some of the currency expansion bloc tomorrow to select a special steering committee to guide his campaign for payment of the bonus through the issuance of new money.

General Strike IS ORDERED BY PEKIN UNIONS

Pekin, Ill., Feb. 3.—(AP)—The Pekin Trades Assembly tonight ordered a general strike of all union workers in Pekin, effective at 8 a. m. tomorrow, in an attempt to force settlement of the strike at the American Distilling company here.

Union leaders announced the strike would affect approximately 3,000 union workers, including barbers, bartenders and motion picture operators.

The general strike call was agreed upon at a meeting of the assembly called after union pickets clashed twice with deputy sheriffs in front of the distilling plant today.

At the same time the assembly adopted a resolution demanding the resignation of Pekin's Chief of Police, Harry Donahue, on the grounds he had fought the distillery pickets with tear gas.

A delegation left the labor meeting to confer with Mayor W. E. Shurman, but it was reported he could not be located immediately.

A labor demonstration was scheduled for Tuesday, but no time was set for it. Union leaders said they hoped by a show of strength to end the distillery strike call.

With the strike call came a request that Mayor Shurman resign, not from his office, but from a citizens committee which has been investigating the labor trouble at the distillery.

The distillery strike had closed the plant for two weeks. Today the plant reopened, and a force of about 100 pickets fought to keep workers from entering. Tear gas was used to disperse two attacks on automobiles entering the gates. Six persons were arrested.

Pekin has a number of industries which may be affected in varying degrees by the general strike. Among them are the Corn Products Refining company, Standard Brands, Inc., a leather works and an organ factory.

National Guard troops assembled at nearby Peoria for their regular drill were reported to have been ordered to stay all night in their quarters.

The strike at the distillery has been in progress for several weeks. Immediately before the first of the year a hearing on strikers' demands for union recognition and reinstatement of several employees allegedly dismissed for union activities was held by the National Labor Relations Board. No formal report on this hearing has been issued.

Los Angeles, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Seven of 90 workmen sleeping in a dormitory at the Parker Dam construction camp perished today in a fire that trapped them in their bunks.

Two other workmen suffered critical burns and 16 more were given hospital treatment.

Bodies of the victims were placed in a temporary morgue at the camp, 250 miles east of here on the Colorado river. All doctors and nurses in Needles, Calif., a railway division point, were summoned there.

The dormitory and a mess hall, also destroyed, were operated by Anderson Bros., subcontractors for the six companies, builders of the dam. It was said by Los Angeles officials of the Metropolitan water district of southern California. The water district let the contract for the dam construction.

The fire victims died in their beds. Those who escaped jumped through windows. Five men in an adjoining dormitory slept through the entire fire.

Frank Crowe, superintendent of six companies, said that damage would approximate $100,000. He expressed amazement that the workmen should have been trapped and said that all the dormitory windows opened on the outside.

Crowe said the victims were employed recently and that none of them had worked at Boulder Dam, which six companies built.

Los Angeles, Ill., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Theodore Goldsmith, 54, Valmeyer, Ill., tavern proprietor, died at a hospital today of a fractured skull suffered last night when his automobile was struck by a Missouri Pacific locomotive.

Goldsmith, driving west on state route 156 in Valmeyer, had almost cleared the tracks, witnesses said, when his automobile was struck by the locomotive.

The reported dismissal of Principal Dwight Ireland had been given first as the basis for the strike. St. Clair said Ireland, who has been sick, will return to his post soon.

GOP "Harmony" Conference Pledges Its Support To The Winning Primary Candidate

Southern England Is Threatened With Meatless Menus

London, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Meatless menus faced much of Southern England tonight because of a strike by Smithfield market's 10,000 workers, that large army of burly men who for some reason wear straw summer hats all the year-round.

Practically none of the 3,000 tons of meat that is daily supplied to London from this market, the world's largest, moved today.

The strike, it was believed, might even spread to dock and railway workers.

It sprang from dissatisfaction with what the men called unnecessary delay by a conciliation board banking their demands for more money.

At a mass meeting tonight, the meat strikers decided not to return to work. Evening newspapers published menus on "what to eat if you cannot get meat." The strike thus far has not materially affected London housewives or restaurants, but their position likely will be serious if a settlement is not reached soon.

Meat now laid up will spoil. Shortly after midnight Sunday 3,500 shopmen walked out and picketed the vast market. They persuaded 1,200 "pitchers"—men who unload the vans—to cease work and the cold storage hands followed suit.

The idle workers hung around the huge market, singing such songs as "pack up your troubles" and "rule Britannia." Police reinforcements were on duty in this area.

Efforts at conciliation this morning were ended temporarily with the statement the parties were "hopelessly divided."

"If the strike lasts, London will be meatless," said H. W. Millman, superintendent of the market. The strikers are demanding a minimum weekly wage of four pounds (about $20), a week's vacation with pay, and a 40-hour, five-day week.

British, French Rift May Break Up Arms Parley

Great Britain Would Invite German Delegation To Conference

By Harold P. Braman, Associated Press Foreign Staff, London, Feb. 3.—(AP)—A rift between the British and French delegations over Germany's prospective participation in treaty discussions threatened tonight to break up the four-power naval conference.

France has not yet replied to a new British demand that she agree that outside naval powers, particularly Germany, be invited to send delegations here but informed quarters felt the reply would be negative.

If it is, the conference is likely to crash because of British insistence on the point, authoritative sources indicated.

This issue goes back to Germany's Versailles treaty last spring. France, nervous over German naval rearmament, contends that participation by Berlin negotiations here would constitute open approval by the powers of Germany's violation of the treaty.

Another outstanding development today was the acceptance by a technical sub-committee of the American proposal for the extension of the official age of battleships from 20 to 25 years.

NUDIST SAIL

Tampa, Fla., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Forty nudists, bent upon founding a colony in the Caribbean Sea, headed for the Virgin Islands aboard the 45-foot schooner Fleetwood today, without a navigator.

"We can't sign a navigator," said Maurice Allard, who described himself as founder of the Nudist Vana Vana Society and commander of the vessel. "We can't take along anybody who isn't a member."

Allard said thirty families were charter members, indicating others would make the trip later.

New York, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Gerald P. Nugent, president of the Philadelphia National League club, tonight denied reports that the Phillies and St. Louis Cardinals were considering a big player deal, involving several leading players of both clubs.

"I know nothing of any deal involving the Phillies," declared Nugent, who is here for the league meeting tomorrow.

What of The Ground Hog?

Did the ground hog see his shadow Sunday? Perhaps if he was out of his hole all day, he did see it for a few moments; but if he was not out around noon, he did not see it. Anyhow if he saw his shadow it was very faint, and would not have frightened him enough to run him back into his hole.

Nevertheless the groundhog is still out, which is a good sign. He is having a rough time in the ice and snow, but if he stays out long enough spring will come maybe after six weeks more of winter. Anyhow the severity of the weather of late has diverted the usual interest in the doings of the groundhog. He is no longer regarded as a good weather prophet.

What people are worrying about now is the recurrence of zero weather, driving over by streets, and trying to stand up on sidewalk. Winter has been real this year, and the end is not yet. A cold shortage is something else to cause concern, and it is hoped the weather will warm up, so the shortage will end.

Novel Suicide

As a Chicago-St. Paul streamlined train rushed over the rails of the Milwaukee road Sunday afternoon, a woman leaped from the platform between the cars. The train was traveling seventy miles an hour. It went six miles before it could be stopped. A telephone wire was tapped, and a highway secured for the train to return over its route on an errand of mercy. Rails were kept clear, and the train backed up took the woman aboard and transported her to a city where there was a hospital. She was not expected to live, and passengers said it was a miracle that she was found alive.

The train lost an hour of its schedule, and the woman established a novel method of attempting suicide. A leap from a streamlined train traveling at high speed would of course offer an almost sure means of suicide; but it is unfortunate somebody had to think of it.

Leaps from high buildings has been a favorite mode for sometime. The trend has worried hotel managements everywhere. Now the railroad officials and train crews will have something to worry them. However, locking the doors of these air-cooled fast trains between stops should be an easy way to stop any more such tragedies.

Traffic Law of Sea

There is an unwritten law of the sea that nothing will interfere with the saving of life. Captains of ships will not take undue risks, but they will spare no efforts to relieve distress and save the lives of imperiled crews and passengers on other ships.

It has been suggested that auto drivers should be careful of life as well as themselves. This can be done by the steering wheel has a responsibility to protect human beings from accident, injury and death insofar as it is within its power to do so. If he takes that responsibility seriously, the toll of traffic accidents will be cut to a minimum.

A few rules that will aid in the saving of life on the highways have been suggested. They must be carefully observed by drivers who wish to qualify as "captains of the road" for a rule is no good unless it is strictly adhered to.

Here are the rules:
1. Before making a turn, get in traffic lane nearest desired direction.
2. The rear vision mirror is for something besides looking for traffic officers—watch cars behind you.
3. Never take chances in passing and do not crowd the right-of-way. Saving seconds is no excuse for causing one unnecessary risk of life.
4. Learn the feel of the car on the road, like the captain does his ship. Study the action of the car on the driveway, wet pavement, gravel road and by road. Even the slightest hobby is a hundred per cent perfect in driving.

So driving seriously, you are probably no smarter than the last person whose neck was broken on a windshield. The smartest men (supposedly) meet with unfortunate disaster through gross carelessness.

Courtesy is not a sign of weakness. It is a sign of character and wisdom, and the ability to be retrained and obedient.

The sea captain doesn't unnecessarily take chances when they can be avoided, but he will risk his life and his ship to prevent an accident or aid another vessel in distress. But automobile drivers willfully risk their own lives as well as the lives of others, for no good reason at all; it doesn't make sense.

If ordinary rules of common sense and courtesy were followed in driving, automobile lives, accidents would be caused only by freak circumstances.

Dear Sir:

Minds are like parachutes—they only function when open.

The fact that hundreds of our people are starving while we have a surplus of food is positive proof that our minds are not open.

When we consider the fact that more than ninety per cent of our popular literature is fiction, we can understand why we are now calling for some Magician to lead us out of this depression.
In reading a story that is full of thrill we may easily substitute values for facts. The sad part of it is, our most interesting stories usually center around some paradise here.

The idea of patriotism served, at first, a useful and even noble purpose. It was a rampart—defence. If we had gone on from there all might have been well with us. But, as usual, having discovered a virtue, we proceeded to enshrine it. Now it is possible that patriotism may wipe out a whole civilization. It justifies our otherwise unjustifiable conduct.

An honest patriot today may feel extremely virtuous, but he is none the less an anachronism wandering about a powder-magazine with a torch.

Unfortunately, as a race, we are out-of-date. We may pride ourselves in many things; but in character we are wandering somewhere in the Dark Ages.

Sincerely,
CRITIC

Tunnel Deaths May Save Other Lives—Probers Hope States Will Be Spurred To Pass Laws Safeguarding Thousands of Their Workers.

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal-Courier Washington Correspondent

Washington—Behind the investigation of West Virginia's siltosis horror is the hope that the doom of the Gauley Bridge tunnel workers may be dramatized so effectively as to safeguard the lives of thousands more who face the perils of occupational disease.

The parade of "walking dead men" who loathed the fatal silica dust while drilling the tunnel and who have been summoned before Congressman Vito Marcantonio's House labor sub-committee to tell their story has a serious purpose.

Many other men, still strong and healthy, are exposed to equal dangers, according to Marcantonio, for a huge labor surplus in this country forces workers into jobs which they might be able to secure in normal times.

First, Marcantonio—who is responsible for the inquiry—hopes to induce the Department of Labor to appoint a board of three to make an exhaustive study with the aim of future prevention.

Hopes to Arouse States

Perhaps, Marcantonio says, the tragic tale of Gauley Bridge will make the country "silicosis-conscious" and state legislatures will make siltosis a compensable disease under workmen's compensation laws. Only five states now do so, he says.

State laws providing safeguards would avert repetitions of Gauley Bridge. According to Marcantonio, siltosis is a hazard in mining, ore-milling, stone and cement quarrying, slate-slicing, cement manufacturing, stone-crushing, and siliceous grinding in many works, including abrasive wheel manufacturing, abrasive paper or cloth manufacturing, and deep excavation work.

Cite Alleged "Coughing"
On many big projects it is the custom of contractors to hire gangs of workers from all parts of the country. At Gauley Bridge, witnesses have charged, from 12 to 14 men—some times with women and children—were housed in a single shack and charged 25 cents a week apiece for electricity, 50 cents for shelter, 25 cents for "doctor," 25 cents for "hospital," and so on.

Evidence also alleged that when workers went to the company store to cash pay checks they were charged 10 per cent for the service. The shack-rooster the gets the men on the job in the morning is alleged to have had a gambling concession— with a heavy cut—from the company, which, witnesses said, had him made a deputy sheriff.

On such jobs—including government jobs hired out to contractors—men at the end of a week were said often to give more to the company store than they had in their pay envelopes. And at Gauley Bridge, according to testimony, after the job was over and men began to find they and their dead comrades were siltosis victims, the company "burned the shacks in which many still sought to live."

Marcantonio hopes perhaps this investigation will prevent anything of the nature in the future. Stories Are Appalling.

Perhaps, Marcantonio says, the tragic tale of Gauley Bridge will make the country "silicosis-conscious" and state legislatures will make siltosis a compensable disease under workmen's compensation laws. Only five states now do so, he says.

State laws providing safeguards would avert repetitions of Gauley Bridge. According to Marcantonio, siltosis is a hazard in mining, ore-milling, stone and cement quarrying, slate-slicing, cement manufacturing, stone-crushing, and siliceous grinding in many works, including abrasive wheel manufacturing, abrasive paper or cloth manufacturing, and deep excavation work.

Cite Alleged "Coughing"
On many big projects it is the custom of contractors to hire gangs of workers from all parts of the country. At Gauley Bridge, witnesses have charged, from 12 to 14 men—some times with women and children—were housed in a single shack and charged 25 cents a week apiece for electricity, 50 cents for shelter, 25 cents for "doctor," 25 cents for "hospital," and so on.

Evidence also alleged that when workers went to the company store to cash pay checks they were charged 10 per cent for the service. The shack-rooster the gets the men on the job in the morning is alleged to have had a gambling concession— with a heavy cut—from the company, which, witnesses said, had him made a deputy sheriff.

On such jobs—including government jobs hired out to contractors—men at the end of a week were said often to give more to the company store than they had in their pay envelopes. And at Gauley Bridge, according to testimony, after the job was over and men began to find they and their dead comrades were siltosis victims, the company "burned the shacks in which many still sought to live."

Marcantonio hopes perhaps this investigation will prevent anything of the nature in the future. Stories Are Appalling.

Hundreds Enjoy Skating at New Pond; Form Negro Groups in Music

A number of WPA recreational projects which are being promoted in Jacksonville as a part of the Federal Reemployment Program get under way in good shape, last week. Those projects are being promoted under the general supervision of the YMCA with Fred Darr as project director.

The experiment in making a skating pond at the Jefferson school proved quite successful. Scores, if not hundreds of young people were on the ice over the week end with sleds and skates. Until a thaw spells it, it is anticipated that this activity will be greatly enjoyed by the young people of the community. It will be under direct supervision of Ralph Cline, Freeman Hopper and Eugene Bentley.

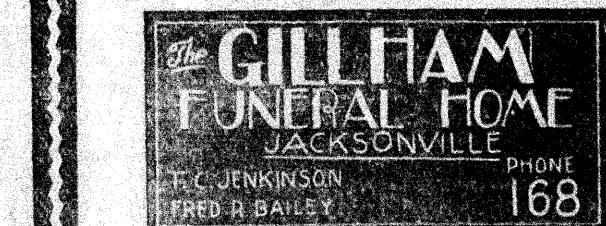

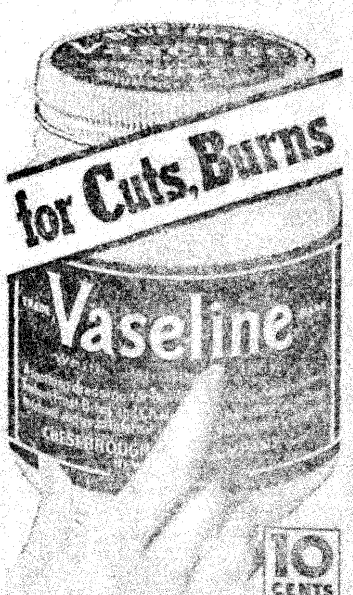

The recreation program in the Beihel A. M. E. church Saturday for the colored young people of that community was conducted under the direction of Miss Jeanne Oags, who is heading up the program for colored people. The forenoon was spent in games for the children and the afternoon was taken by the young people. Miss Oags was assisted by Harold Robinson, Mary Johnson and Ogilvie Gubrie.

Another activity in this colored program is the classes in musical training which will be directed by Mrs. Hazel Belle Walton at her home, 815 South Fayette street. Her activity will include chorus work for young people and older people as well as for children. Each morning at 9 o'clock she will have the pre-school age child in rhythm classes in a sort of musical kindergarten. On Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock a junior group will meet for chorus work. Other groups will be announced from time to time.

Another activity of this group is needlework both fancy and plain. Any who are interested should get in touch with Miss Oags or with Miss Mary Johnson by calling 6622. These groups will meet at the home of Miss Oags, 626 South Fayette street.

In addition to the above groups several men are working in the YMCA rooms on various handicraft projects under the direction of Ray Spillman who is the recreational leader in charge of wood handicraft. A group of women are similarly engaged in the "Y" in other forms of handicraft activity. These folks are to be assigned to special leadership as opportunity develops.

EXCLUSIVE STORY

Straight from the day headlines and as significant as an "extra" is "Exclusive Story," dramatic new Metro-Goldwyn picture, featuring the teaming Franchot Tone and Madeline Evans, and coming Wednesday to the FOX ILLINOIS.

Written by Newsperman Martin Mooney, one of the most sensational story crackers of the time, it is a story about the years' blackest headlines, many of them written by the author himself.

Primarily a dramatization of Mooney's own expose of the notorious "Pokey Racket" practiced in New York and other metropolitan centers, the picture was built up to its plot themes from three major news events of the year.

GUARD THAT GIRL

Gripping and thrilling mystery and dramatic, is "GUARD THAT GIRL," the recent Columbia picture which opens today at the FOX MAJESTIC.

An important cast of notable players brings to life the story of a desperate murderer who uses big game arrows as his lethal weapons. The audience is bound to find it a task to select the guilty person from among such players as Ober Allen, Arthur Hohl, one of the best-hated screen villains; Ward Bond, Elizabeth Risdon, new to Hollywood after theatre Guild triumphs.

The shadow of suspicion also plays upon Florence Rice, who disguises herself as the helpless unknown criminals seek to kill; upon Barbara Kent and Bert Roach, who provides many of the picture's laughs.

No matter what your worries, you will forget them as you find yourself joining the three detectives who face a maze of clues while endeavoring to find a brilliantly fiendish murderer. The photography, the sound effects and superb acting combine to work a spell of eerie mystery.

Courtesy is not a sign of weakness. It is a sign of character and wisdom and the ability to be forethoughtful and obliging.

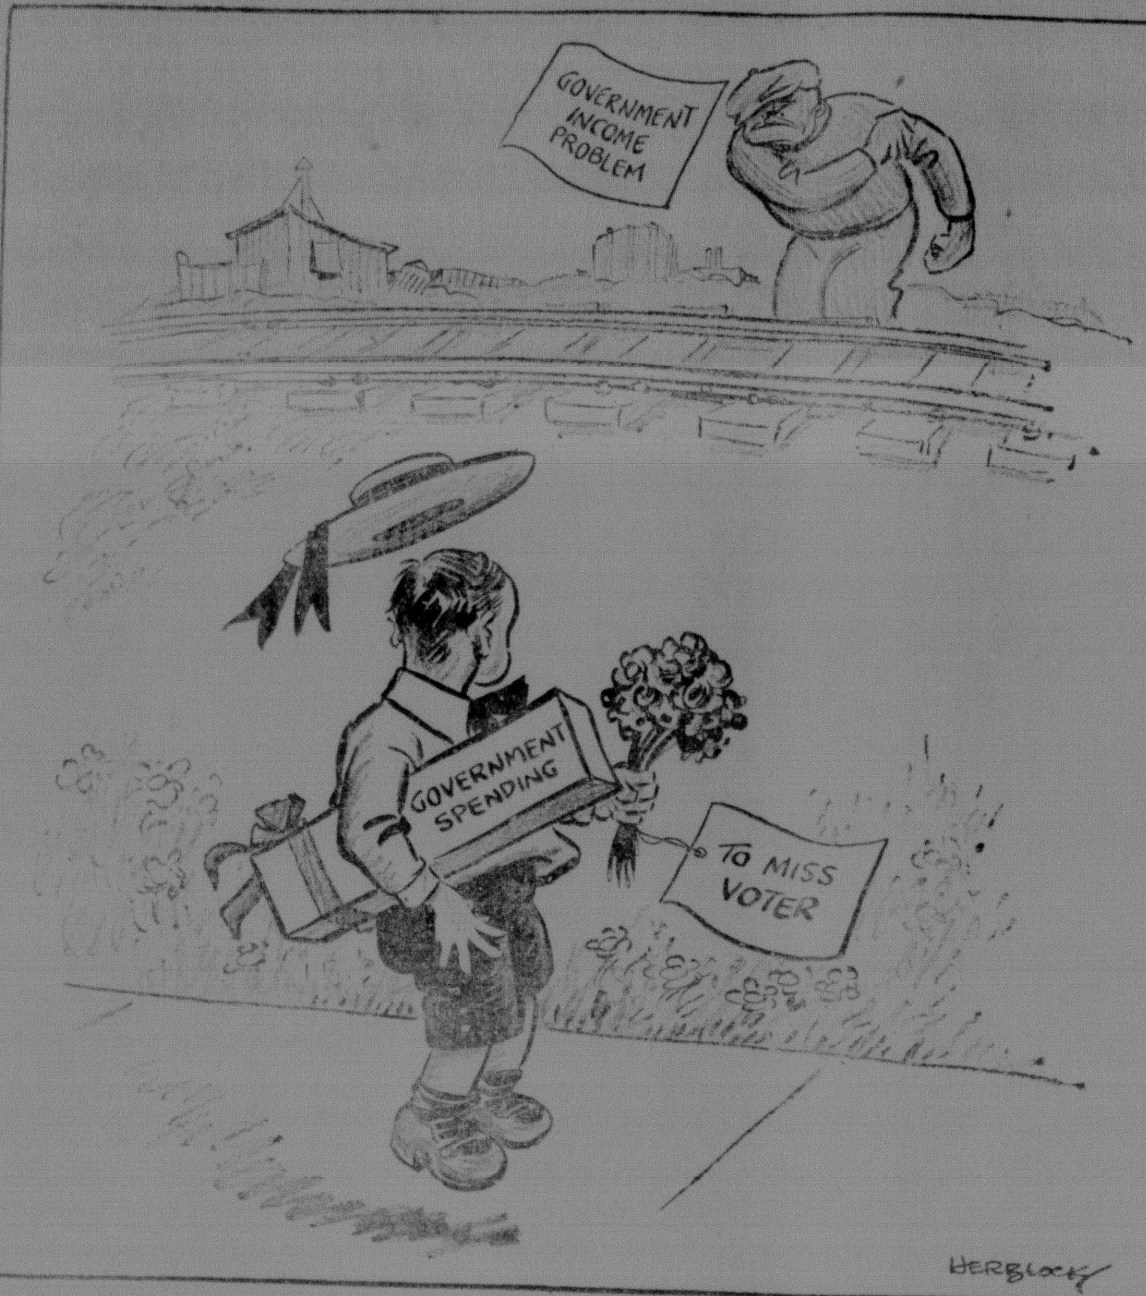

The sea captain doesn't unnecessarily take chances when they can be avoided, but he willingly risks his life and his ship to prevent an accident or aid another vessel in distress. But automobile drivers willfully risk their own lives as well as the lives of others for no good reason at all; it doesn't make sense.

If ordinary rules of common sense and courtesy were followed in driving (unwritten laws), accidents would be caused only by freak circumstances.

The Boy On The Other Side Of The Tracks

What of The Ground Hog?

Did the ground hog see his shadow Sunday? Perhaps if he was out of his hole all day, he did see it for a few moments; but if he was not out around noon, he did not see it. Anyhow if he saw his shadow it was very faint, and would not have frightened him enough to run him back into his hole.

Doesn't the groundhog is still out, which is a good sign. He is having a tough time in the ice and snow, but if he stays out long enough spring will come, maybe after six weeks more of winter. Anyhow the severity of the weather of late has dwarfed the usual interest in the doings of the groundhog. He is no longer regarded as a good weather prophet.

What people are worrying about now is the recurrence of zero weather, driving over by streets, and trying to stand up on silk sidewalks. Winter has been real this year, and the end is not yet. A coal shortage is something else to cause concern, and it is hoped the weather will warm up so the shortage will end.

Novel Suicide

As a Chicago-St. Paul streamlined train rushed over the rails of the Milwaukee road Sunday afternoon, a woman leaped from the platform between the cars. The train was traveling seventy miles an hour. It went six miles before it could be stopped.

A telephone wire was tapped, and authorities secured for the train to return over its route on an errand of mercy. Rails were kept clear, and the train backed up took the woman aboard and transported her to a city, where there was a hospital. She was not expected to live, and passengers said it was a miracle that she was found alive.

The train lost an hour of its schedule, and the woman established a novel method of attempting suicide. A leap from a streamlined train traveling at high speed would of course offer an almost sure means of suicide; but it is unfortunate somebody had to think of it.

Leaping from high buildings has been a favorite mode for sometime. The trend has worried hotel managements everywhere. Now the railroad officials and train crews will have something to worry them. However, jolting the doors of these air-cooled fast trains between stops should be an easy way to stop any more such tragedies.

Traffic Law of Sea

There is an unwritten law of the sea that nothing will interfere with the saving of life. Captains of ships will not take undue risks, but they will spare no effort to relieve distress and save the lives of imperiled crews and passengers in other ships.

It has been suggested that auto drivers should be as careful of life as sea captains. The mind behind the steering wheel has a responsibility to protect human beings from accident, injury and death insofar as it is within his power to do so. If he takes that responsibility seriously, the toll of traffic accidents will be cut to a minimum.

A few rules that will aid in the saving of life on the highways have been suggested. They must be carefully observed by drivers who wish to qualify as "captains of the road" for a rule is no good unless it is strictly adhered to.

Here are the rules:
1. Before making a turn, get in traffic lane nearest desired direction.
2. The rear view mirror is for something beside looking for traffic officers—watch cars behind you.
3. Never take chances in passing and do not crowd the right-of-way. Saving seconds is no excuse for causing an unnecessary risk of life.
4. Learn the feel of the car on the road, like the captain does his ship. Study the action of the car on the dry pavement, wet pavement, gravel road, and icy road. Find the highest ability is not one hundred per cent perfect in driving.

Our driving seriously; you are probably no smarter than the last person whose neck was broken on a windshield. The smartest men (supposedly) meet with unfortunate disaster through gross carelessness.

Dear Sir:
Minds are like parachutes—they only function when open.

The fact that hundreds of our people are starving while we have a surplus of food is positive proof that our minds are not open.

When we consider the fact that more than ninety per cent of our popular literature is fiction, we may understand why we are now waiting for some Magician to lead us out of this depression.

In reading a story that is full of dull we may easily substitute wisdom for facts. The end and out of it is, our most interesting stories usually center around some patriotic hero.

The idea of patriotism served at first, a useful and even noble purpose. It was a stepping-stone. If we had gone on from there all might have been well with us. But, as usual, having discovered a virtue, we proceeded to enshrine it. Now it is possible that patriotism may wipe out a whole civilization. It justifies our otherwise unjustifiable conceit.

An honest patriot today may feel extremely virtuous, but he is none the less an anachronism wandering about a powder-magazine with a torchlight.

Unfortunately, as a race, we are out-of-date. We may pride ourselves in many things; but in character we are wandering somewhere in the Dark Ages.

Sincerely,
CRITIC

Behind The Scenes In Washington

Tunnel Deaths May Save Other Lives—Probers Hope States Will Be Spurred To Pass Laws Safeguarding Thousands of Their Workers.

By RODNEY DUTCHER
(Journal-Courier Washington Correspondent)

Washington—Behind the investigation of West Virginia's silicosis horror is the hope that the death of the Gauley Bridge tunnel workers may be dramatized so effectively as to safeguard the lives of thousands more who face the perils of occupational disease.

The parade of "walking dead men" who breathe the fatal silica dust while drilling the tunnel and who have been summoned before Congressmen Vito Marcantonio's House labor sub-committee to tell their story has a serious purpose.

Many other men, still strong and healthy, are exposed to equal dangers, according to Marcantonio, for a huge labor surplus in this country forces workmen into jobs which they might be able to ignore in normal times.

First, Marcantonio—who is responsible for the inquiry—hopes to induce the Department of Labor to appoint a board of three to make an exhaustive study with the aim of future prevention.

Hopes to Arouse States

Perhaps, Marcantonio says, the harrowing tale of Gauley Bridge will make the country "silicosis-conscious" and state legislatures will make silicosis a compensable disease under workmen's compensation laws. Only five states now do so, he says.

State laws providing safeguards would avert repetitions of Gauley Bridge. According to Marcantonio, silicosis is a hazard in mining, ore milling, stone and cement quarrying, slate-splitting, cement manufacturing, stone-crushing, and silica grinding in many works, tale mills, abrasives, and wheel manufacturing, abrasive paper, or cloth manufacturing, and deep-sea excavation work.

Cite Alleged "Coughing"

On many big projects it is the custom of contractors to hire gangs of workers from all parts of the country. At Gauley Bridge, witnesses have charged, from 12 to 14 men—sometimes with women and children—were housed in a single shack and charged 25 cents a week apiece for electricity, 50 cents for shelter, 25 cents for "doctor," 25 cents for "hospital," and so on.

Evidence also alleged that when workers went to the company store to cash pay checks they were charged 10 per cent for the service. The "black-roster" (the gets the men on the job in the morning) is alleged to have had a gambling concession—with a heavy cut—from the company which, witnesses said, had him made a deputy sheriff.

On such jobs—including government jobs hired out to contractors—men at the end of a week were said often to owe more to the company than they had in their pay envelopes. And at Gauley Bridge, according to testimony, after the job was over and men began to find their way to their dead comrades, were silicosis victims, "the company" bought the shacks in which many still sought to live.

Marcantonio hopes perhaps this investigation will prevent anything of the nature in the future.

EXCLUSIVE STORY

Stripped from the day headlines and as significant as an "extra" is "Exclusive Story," dramatic new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production featuring Franchot Tone and Madeleine Evans and coming Wednesday to the FOX ILLINOIS.

Written by Newspaperman Martin Mooney, one of the most sensational vice crusaders of the time, it is a story shaped from the year's blackest headlines, many of them written by the author himself. Primarily a dramatization of Mooney's own expose of the notorious "Policy Backet" practiced in New York and other metropolitan centers, the new picture waves in its plot themes from three major news events of the year.

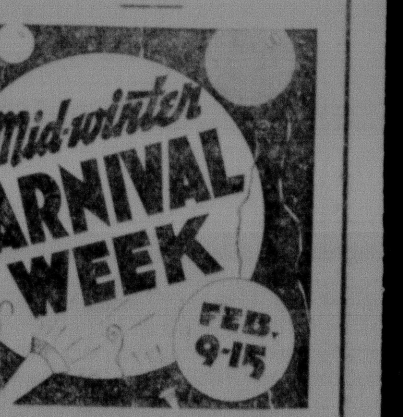

GUARD THAT GIRL

Gripping and thrilling mysterious and dramatic, is "GUARD THAT GIRL," the sensational Columbia picture which opens today at the FOX MAJESTIC.

An important cast of notable players brings to life the story of a desperate murderer who uses big game arrows as his lethal weapon. The audience found it an impossible task to select the guilty person from among such players as Robert Allen, Arthur Hohl, one of the best-hated screen villains; Ward Bond, Elizabeth Risdon, new to Hollywood after theatre Guild triumphs.

The shadow of suspicion also plays upon Florence Rice, who disguises herself as the heinous unknown criminals seek to kill; upon Barbara Kent and Bert Roach, who provides many of the picture's laughs.

No matter what your worries you will forget them as you find yourself joining the three detectives who face a maze of clues while endeavoring to find a brilliantly fiendish murderer. The photography, the sound effects and superb acting combine to work a spell of eerie mystery.

THE FIRST OF CARNIVAL WEEK

If Charles Dickens Were Alive Today....

He'd say: "Last year, when the film producers made 'David Copperfield' into a picture my heart was overflowing with gratitude. Words fail me now as they bring to the World another of my beloved novels, 'A Tale of Two Cities,' a great motion picture for the delight of all humanity!"

Passes today at Fox Majestic for Roy Myers R R 2, Lynxville.

A DAILY GUIDE TO ENTERTAINMENT

Bread in Endless Variety Aids Meal Planner

By MARY E. DAGUE
NEA Service Staff Writer

Bread and butter is such an everyday item in meals that the thoughtless inclusion of it has become a poor menu habit that often defeats itself. In this day of less elaborate meals, more fruit and vegetables, fewer pies and puddings, why not select bread from the possible different kinds with the definite end in view of obtaining the variety so necessary to satisfactory eating as well as to add that new and exciting not which is required for clever meals?

The local bakeries and foodstores display many kinds of delicious light buns, raised muffins, coffee cakes, tea rings and rolls and biscuits that need only reheating in a hot oven.

Baking methods have been simplified so that the home-maker who likes to do her own baking occasionally can make these same light bread-stuffs without too much sacrifice of time and effort.

Perhaps fruit, coffee and toast is the regulation busy-day breakfast, but surely Sunday mornings deserve a special treat. One of the several

Daily Menu

BREAKFAST: Pineapple juice, cereal, cream, bread crumb omelet, crisp toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Creamed dried beef on toast, potato chips, celery and radishes, whirlygig rolls, marmalade, milk, tea.

DINNER: Baked fillet of haddock, lemon butter, twice baked sweet potatoes, Philadelphia relish, prune whip with custard sauce, milk, coffee.

kind of coffee cake is just the thing, or, if one prefers, a filled coffee ring with fruit and nuts. Even the everyday toast can be happily varied. With raisin bread, rye bread or any number of whole wheat combinations to select from, toast can be quite intriguing.

Serve at Other Meals, Too

Delicate butterfly buns, pecan rolls or cinnamon buns will save any luncheon from being commonplace.

With dinner, rolls are in order—soft rolls such as Parker House and clover leaf; crispy, crusty French rolls; delicate crackling Vienna rolls, crescents, poppy seed rolls and finger rolls.

Most of us never stop to think how difficult meal planning would be without bread. Buttered toast for breakfast, cinnamon toast for tea, toast under a crossed dish for luncheon, croissants, sippets and bread sticks for the soup and for garnishings, canapés made with toast, sandwiches plain or toasted—all from the same everyday loaf.

Who would be satisfied with roast turkey or chicken without the stuffing? Scalloped dishes, meat loaves, croquettes, cutlets—all derive much of their personality from the bread crumbs used in or on them.

I have worked out a recipe for ice-box bread or rolls. The dough can be stored in the refrigerator and made into bread or rolls as wanted.

Ice-Box Bread

To yeast cakes, 1 cup rice potato, 3 cup water in which potatoes were cooked, 2 cups milk, 1 cup butter and lard mixed, 1 cup sugar, 2 teaspoons salt, 7½ cups flour.

Scald milk, add shortening and stir until melted. Cool until lukewarm. Dissolve yeast in potato water cooled until lukewarm. Mix with milk, sugar, salt and rice potatoes. Add 1 cup flour and beat well. Let stand 1 hour in a warm place and add remaining flour. Knead on a lightly floured board. Form into a ball, brush with melted butter and put into a mixing bowl. Cover tightly and store in refrigerator until wanted for baking. If you want to make into loaves, divide in three equal parts and shape. Put into buttered brick shaped pans and let rise in a warm place until double in bulk. This rising will take from one to two hours. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) for ten minutes. Then reduce temperature to moderate (350 degrees F.) and finish baking for fifty minutes longer. Remove from pans and cool on wire rack. If you like a crisp, crackly crust, rub with butter as soon as bread is removed from oven.

LOVE IS SUBJECT OF LESSON-SERMON

"Love" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, February 2.

The Golden Text was, "My little children, let us not love in word, neither in tongue; but in deed and in truth" (1 John 3:18).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "No man hath seen God at any time. If we love one another, God dwelleth in us, and His love is perfected in us. And we have known and believed the love that God hath to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him" (1 John 4:12, 16).

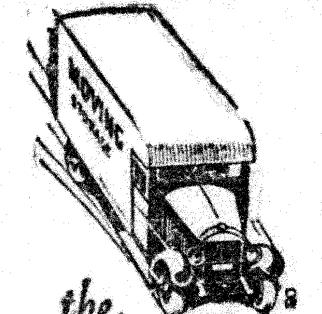

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The precise term of God must be of small importance in comparison with the sublime question, What is infinite Mind or divine Love? . . . No form nor physical combination is adequate to represent infinite Love" (p. 256).

The Jefferson school yard which was flooded several days ago has proved a popular place. The flooding of low places provides fine places for skating without the dangers attending to larger and deeper bodies of water.

Branch Rickey Declares Cardinal Youngsters To Make Oldtimers "Step"

New York, Feb. 3.—(P)—More power and an outfield "symphony in M" to support the harmonious hurling of the celebrated Dean boys represent the keystone of the St. Louis Cardinals' theme song for the 1936 baseball campaign.

Circumstances have compelled the former world champions to do some experimenting this spring. The shake-up hasn't been so drastic as threatened, after the Cardinals "blew" in the stretch last season, but reinforcements have been summoned from the well-known "chain gang."

There will be a wide open battle for most of the regular jobs, but Branch Rickey, the club's executive master mind today, "We have an exceptionally fine group of youngsters who will make every veteran on the team hustle when we call the roll at Bradenton."

The passing of the veterans Jack Pelfrey and Eddie O'Connell, emphasized the extent of the outfield shake-up.

Both were fast living power, explained Rickey.

Eddie Collins, general manager of the Boston Red Sox, interrupted to suggest he would welcome a batsman who set a steady state of one-base hits but Rickey retorted:

"I notice the Red Sox have put the accent on power too. You will be disappointed, Eddie, if Jimmie Fox hits singles instead of home runs."

"It looks now as though Joe Medwick, Terry Moore and Pepper Martin will do all the outfielding and a good deal of the hitting we need. Peppers' shift to right field from third base, where he has starred for the past few seasons, is prompted by the fact we have some great young infielders coming up. There's Larry Judy for instance, a speed king and a great prospect. Then, too, Charlie Gehringer made a wonderful come-back after nearly losing his foot in a football accident, and he can play third base."

The loss of Bill Delaney, hard-hitting young backstop who has been seriously ill, is a big blow to the Cardinals but his Virgil Davis will be the No. 1 target for the Dean boys and Roy Parmelee, the speed-ball star of this year's Cardinal staff.

May Lost To College Club For Next Game

Lasiter Improves But Will Be Out Of Lineup For Southern Battle

Fred May, Illinois College forward who led the scoring against McKendree college here Saturday night when the Blueboys won their second conference game of the year, will be lost to the team for at least a week and possibly for the remainder of the semester, and Louis Lasiter, ill at Passavant Hospital with pneumonia, also will be out of the line-up when Illinois meets Southern Teachers on the I. S. D. court Saturday night.

May stumbled over a semester chemistry examination and unless he is able to make up the work in a special examination, will be lost for the remainder of the season. His plight became known yesterday when grades for the first semester's work were handed out.

Lasiter, who shined Saturday night a blow to the Blueboys, continued to show improvement yesterday, and was expected to be out of the hospital in a week, and probably ready to play in another week, although this had not been determined definitely. He first noticed his ailment last Thursday night when he went to Quincy in below zero weather with Athletic Director Van Meter to appear at a Y. M. C. A. banquet but said nothing about it until the following morning after he had finished his duties at the college.

As soon as it was determined that Lasiter had contracted pneumonia, he was placed in an automobile and taken to the hospital. The malady affected only one of his lungs and was reported to be responding to treatment. He was sufficiently improved yesterday to ask for a radio and some reading matter.

Some gleams of hope followed the announcement that May would be ineligible in another statement that a youth named Miles, of Argo, had enrolled in college. He is reported to have a good record as a basketball player, and may be called upon to step into the open position.

All of the other cagers were reported to have weathered the examination storm, thus remaining eligible. Members of last fall's football squad also were said to have come through in good shape.

Frisch, Greenberg Get Baseball Awards

750 Persons Turn Out For Banquet in New York; Greenberg Hold-out

New York.—(P)—Baseball men continued their mid-winter "huddles" today, engaging in trade talk and weighing details of schedule-making after being the target for good-natured quips at the New York chapter of the Baseball Writers' association.

The 13th annual banquet, attended last night by a record turnout of 750 sports followers, was marked by an ovation to former Mayor James J. Walker as well as formal awards to Hank Greenberg of the Detroit Tigers and Frankie Frisch of the St. Louis Cardinals for outstanding baseball achievements.

The presentation to Walker of an engraved plaque, recognizing his authorship of the Sunday baseball law in New York state, prompted the former mayor to pay tribute to the sport as an institution which "devotes its energy, not to dragging down, but to building up aid to sportsmanship."

A telegram from President Roosevelt praised the "American institution of baseball" and felicitated the writers upon their part in building it up.

Greenberg, after receiving the award as "player of the year" from President Will Hoge of the American League, revealed he had not yet signed his 1936 contract. The first baseman of the world champions said he expected "no difficulty" coming to terms, adding in jestful tone that "there's only a little matter of $10,000 difference" on the subject between Manager Mickey Cochrane and himself.

Frisch, recipient of the award for outstanding contribution to the game over a period of time, suggested he might last five more years in active harness and hoped he would be in at least two more world series, thereby tying Babe Ruth's record of ten.

HERMANN READY TO START GIRLS' LOOPS

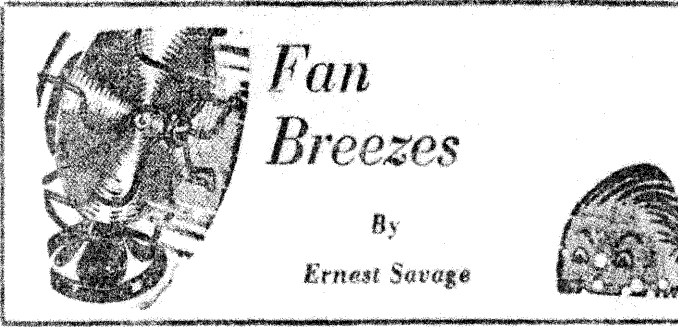

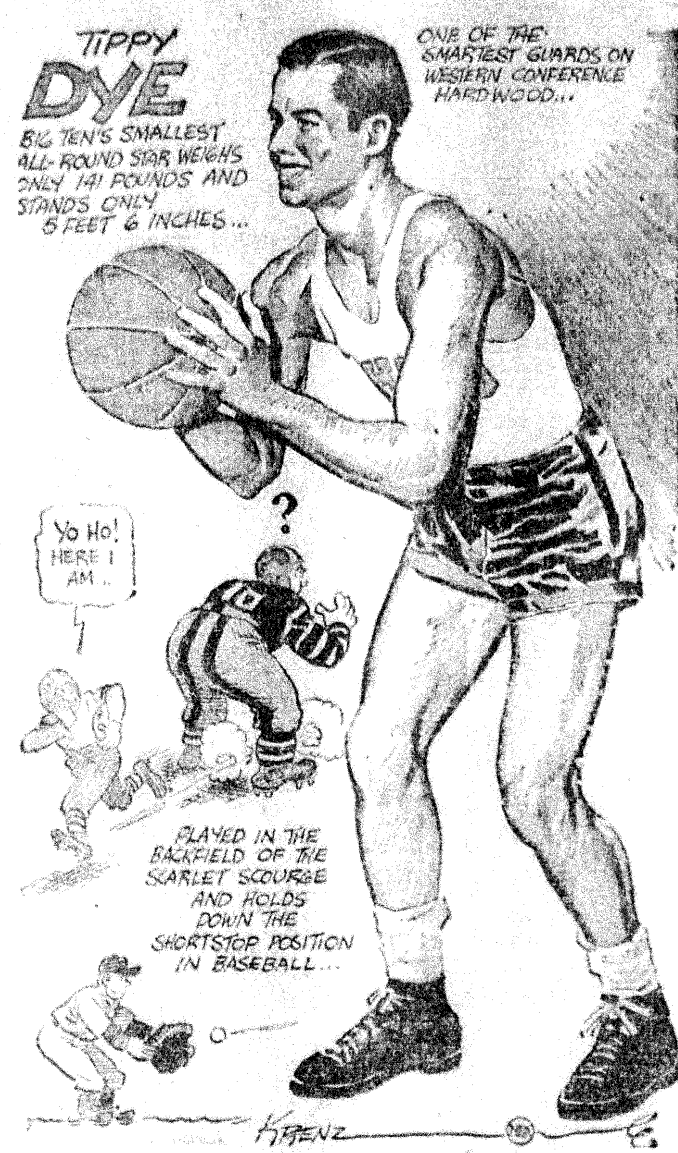

While considerable interest had been shown during preliminary arrangements for girls' college ball and basketball, it has been found almost impossible to schedule games because of failure of groups to definitely organize into teams. A number of groups are expected to enter teams but have as yet not made these entries definite.

Mr. Hermann of the Y. M. C. A. is ready to start the league at once if the young women want to play but in order that he may know what teams to schedule for games, he asks that any groups who are going to have teams should communicate with him at the Y. M. C. A. office, phone 129.

The Illinois High School Athletic Association for this month states that the success which has met the new rule governing putting the ball in play following a successful free throw, probably will be sufficient ground for the rules makers to go farther with method of putting the ball in play next year — indicating that this column's forecast that the ball would be put in play following field goals by the team scored upon throwing it in from out of bounds, would come true.

One other moot point has been settled also. This is the one governing substitutions following a successful free throw. The Athletic says that substitutions should be allowed, although this obviously deprives the team just scored upon of making a fast break for their own hoop.

On the other hand, the rules provide that substitutions may be made at any time when the ball is dead. That point may come in handy for some of the coaches to remember in the last furious minutes of a basketball game.

It seems as if this year was the year cut out for troubles to befall Illinois College. On top of losing Lasiter for the McKendree and Southern Teachers games at least, and possibly the Wesleyan game, it seems that they have lost Freddie May for the rest of the season. The search is on to find replacements for these two cagers.

Some sort of new material may have materialized for the second semester, but as yet nothing startling has come out of the Illinois Camp. A husky six footer or two would be acceptable.

St. Teresa Booster's club is getting behind the wheel in Decatur to put this year's Catholic tournament across in a big way. They held a banquet Sunday night for the club and invited in several other persons to begin the drive for tickets.

Joe Voegelé, who is now coaching at Spaulding in Peoria, after three spectacular years with Notre Dame's basketball team, runs Trinity, Corpus Christi and Catholic of Springfield as the three toughest dovetailed teams. He was a little bit modest about his own club, which Sunday afternoon defeated St. Teresa 22 to 19.

Harry Grayson, N.E.A. sports writer declares basketball is one of the most international games with the exception of tennis, golf and billiards. Basketball is played in 26 countries, and estimates that five million games are played annually, that 25 million players take part in the games, and that five times that number are spectators. That is why basketball is on the Olympic program for the first time.

Jacksonville high's record of 17 wins in 18 games is beginning to attract a little attention. Decatur sports writers are rather curious about this year's Crimson team. Well, they have averaged 37½ points per game so far this year.

With the "old left handers" throwing me in baskets from all around the hoop and a couple of big boys to get the ball for them, they have some thing that few teams are able to get.

Pittsfield high all but put the finishing touches on its campaign to retain the Northwestern Division Illinois Valley basketball championship last Friday night when it handed Griggsville a set-back. The Indians need only one more victory, over either Griggsville or Bluffs, to clinch at least a share of the title, whereas a victory in both games would give them an undisputed claim to the title.

In the other division, White Hall has yet to put the clamps on the crown. They are booked to play at Carrollton and Jerseyville on successive nights this week, and have their golden opportunity ahead. By handing Jerseyville another defeat, as they have done when these two teams met before, the Maroons can almost coast the rest of the way through the schedule to a title.

Four games, two of which the White Hall team will play, are listed on the schedule for this week. Griggsville will invade Pleasant Hill in the sole Northwestern league game, while White Hall plays at Carrollton, and Greenfield goes to Jerseyville. One inter-conference game involving Roadhouse and Winchester, also is on tap for the night. White Hall plays at Jerseyville Saturday night.

Cronin Says Foxx

Might Break Mark

By Russell J. Newland
Associated Press Sports Writer
San Francisco, Feb. 3.—(P)—Joe Cronin, youthful manager of the Boston Red Sox, predicted today that Jimmy Foxx "would come close to if not break" Babe Ruth's American League home run record this year.

Cronin said Foxx, recent Red Sox acquisition, is "the greatest player in the game," adding:

"The setup for Foxx to better Ruth's record of 60 is perfect. He is joining a new club under ideal conditions. I wouldn't say Jimmy was bogged down with the Athletics last year but he had reached the stage where it was more or less of a routine."

Foxx hit 38 home runs in 1935.

"Our left field fence is a few feet shorter than what Foxx had to aim at in Philadelphia," Cronin added. "He'll have to hit the ball a bit higher, but when he gets hold of one no fence will stop him. It is a pretty big order to ask a man to hit as many home runs as the Babe did in 1927 but I am confident Jimmy has the stuff to do it."

Cronin described Foxx as "a player with a perfect baseball temperament. Enthusiastic over the acquisition, not only of Foxx but of Roger Cramer and Helme Marmola, outfielders, Eric McNair, infielder and Johnny Marcum, pitcher, Cronin said he hoped to have the Red Sox "up in the race from the start."

He thinks the American League tussle will be between Detroit, Cleveland, the Yankees and the Red Sox.

"You have to rate Detroit favorite," he said. "The world's series champions undoubtedly will be strengthened with Al Simmons in the outfield. But it should be a fine race with none of the top teams making a walkaway of it."

Coach Walker Returns To Team But May Not Lead Them Tonight; Play At Mt. Pulaski On Friday

along in order to avoid the return of the intense pains which forced him to remain home Friday and Saturday of last week while the team was adding a couple more victories to the string.

He did not plan to make the trip to Winchester, when discussing his condition yesterday, but was confident that he would be able to make the trip to Mt. Pulaski Friday night.

Winchester is not being taken lightly by the lads who have come on a long winning streak, for they recall the last battle Andrew Chapman's charges gave White Hall, another of the outstanding teams of this season, before they went down to defeat. Whether Winchester will be able to dig up some means of checking the terrific Crimson speed and left handed shooting, something no other team has been able to do this year with the exception of Beardstown, remains to be seen.

The big test for the Crimson will come Friday night when they play Mt. Pulaski. The Hillslopers are scheduled for only one game this year, but will play in Jacksonville next year. Mt. Pulaski held the high point in losing a 19-14 decision last Saturday night.

The Crimson will fire their heavy scoring battery of Hamm, Lukeman and Alb Ketter, forwards, Hamilton, center, Bohatt and Moxon, guards, at the Wildcats. They are booked for two games, the first to be called at 7 p. m. and the second at 8 p. m.

Officials at both schools, however, were casting uneasy eyes on the very condition of the players, fearing that it might be necessary to call off the game. The Crimson are scheduled for three games weekly from now until the end of the season.

Coach Frank Walker's hopes to be able to get out of bed and lead the Crimson to Winchester were given a set-back yesterday when the special belt, which he will be required to correct a hip injury, failed to arrive. He expects to be able to take the team to Mt. Pulaski Friday night and to direct them against Pittsfield here Saturday night.

Walker left his home yesterday to do some "office work" at the school building, and remained long enough to conduct a two hour practice session, although he kept off his feet as much as possible. Unable to move rapidly, the Crimson coach shuffles

Vets Aid Macomb in Ruth, Cobb, Wagner Rise to Loop Top Named Game Heroes

Only Three Teams Undefeated in Little 19 Conference at Present

Chicago.—(P)—Four veteran performers, who aided in bringing Western Teachers a half interest in the Illinois Intercollegiate Conference basketball championship last year, and an outstanding freshman have combined forces this season to again rate the western five as a likely contender for the crown.

Western Teachers won their 18th consecutive game of the season, and their sixth conference contest, last week in a 39-38 battle with Eastern Teachers. The triumph left the Macomb Five tied with Illinois Wesleyan for leadership in the standings.

Augustana, with five victories, is the only other undefeated five. Both Augustana and Wesleyan were idle last week, but the three leaders will each engage in two conference tilts this week.

Co-captains Carol Wood and Dan Robbins, forward and a guard, are holdovers from last season's championship Macomb quintet. Wood at present is firmly entrenched in first place among the leading individual scorers of the conference.

Ted Means, a roney old specializing in a pivot shot, plays opposite Wood at forward, while Harold Henderson handles the center post.

Perry Barlett, a member of the Quincy team which won the Illinois high school championship in 1934, has rated a guard position in his Freshman year, to round out the starting five.

The ranks of the undefeated were thinned last week by a 41 to 21 Carthage victory over Knox. Only eight of the 21 teams now boast records above the 500 mark.

This week's schedule lists 14 championship games, but does not draw any of the leaders together. Millikin, twice beaten but still rated as a serious threat, will meet Augustana at Decatur tonight in the highlight of the week's play.

Mathewson and Walter Johnson Also Selected in Poll of Writers

Chicago.—(P)—The names of Ty Cobb, Babe Ruth, Hans Wagner, Christy Mathewson and Walter Johnson will be perpetuated in baseball's hall of fame, but Flanders will have to wait another year to learn who their five mates of the modern era will be.

The initial list of stars of the span from 1900 to the present was to have included ten names. There were no doubts in the minds of players and sportsmen who cast 10,000 votes in the poll, that these five merited places in the Memorial hall to be erected at Cooperstown, N. Y. in 1939. Each easily amassed the necessary three-fourths of the ballots cast without difficulty.

There was no such agreement, however, on 48 others, some of them still active, and their names will again be presented for next year's poll. Mathewson, who pitched 223 games, was probably the most popular. Henry P. Edwards, the former league secretary, conducted the poll.

Cobb, the "Georgia peach" who set a staggering assortment of records during his stormy playing days with the Detroit Tigers, received 222 votes, lacking only four of being an unanimous choice. Ruth, the man who made the home run famous, and Wagner the daddy of choruses, were next with 218.

Mathewson, the "Big Six" of pitching fame, had 205, and Johnson, fireball king of his time and the last to retire from action, qualified with 189. Such greats as Napoleon Lajoie, Tris Speaker, Denon (Cy) Young, Rogers Hornsby and Mickey Cochrane, however, fell short of the required majority.

Lajoie, kingpin of second basemen of his time, polled 146 votes. Speaker had 133, Young 111, Hornsby 105, and Cochrane 80. George Sisler, who battled Cobb for hitting honors near the end of the Georgian's career, was eleventh with 77.

Branch Rickey Declares Cardinal Youngsters To Make Oldtimers "Step"

New York, Feb. 3.—(P)—More power and an outfield "symphony in M" to support the harmonious hurling of the celebrated Dean boys represent the keynotes of the St. Louis Cardinals' theme song for the 1936 baseball campaign.

Circumstances have compelled the former world champions to do some experimenting this coming. The shake-up hasn't been so drastic as threatened, after the Cardinals' blow in the stretch last season, but reinforcements have been summoned from the so-called "chain gang."

The passing of the veterans, Jack Rothrock and Ernie Osnati, emphasized the extent of the outfield shake-up.

Both were fast losing power," explained Rickey.

May Lost To College Club For Next Game

Lasiter Improves But Will Be Out Of Lineup For Southern Battle

Fred May, Illinois College forward who led the scoring against McKendree college here Saturday night, when the Blueboys won their second conference game of the year, will be lost to the team for at least a week and possibly for the remainder of the semester, and Louis Lasiter, ill at Passavant Hospital with pneumonia, also will be out of the line-up when Illinois meets Southern Teachers on the I. S. D. court Saturday night.

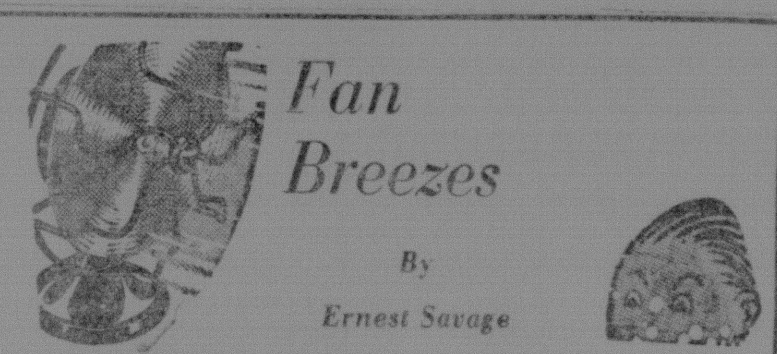

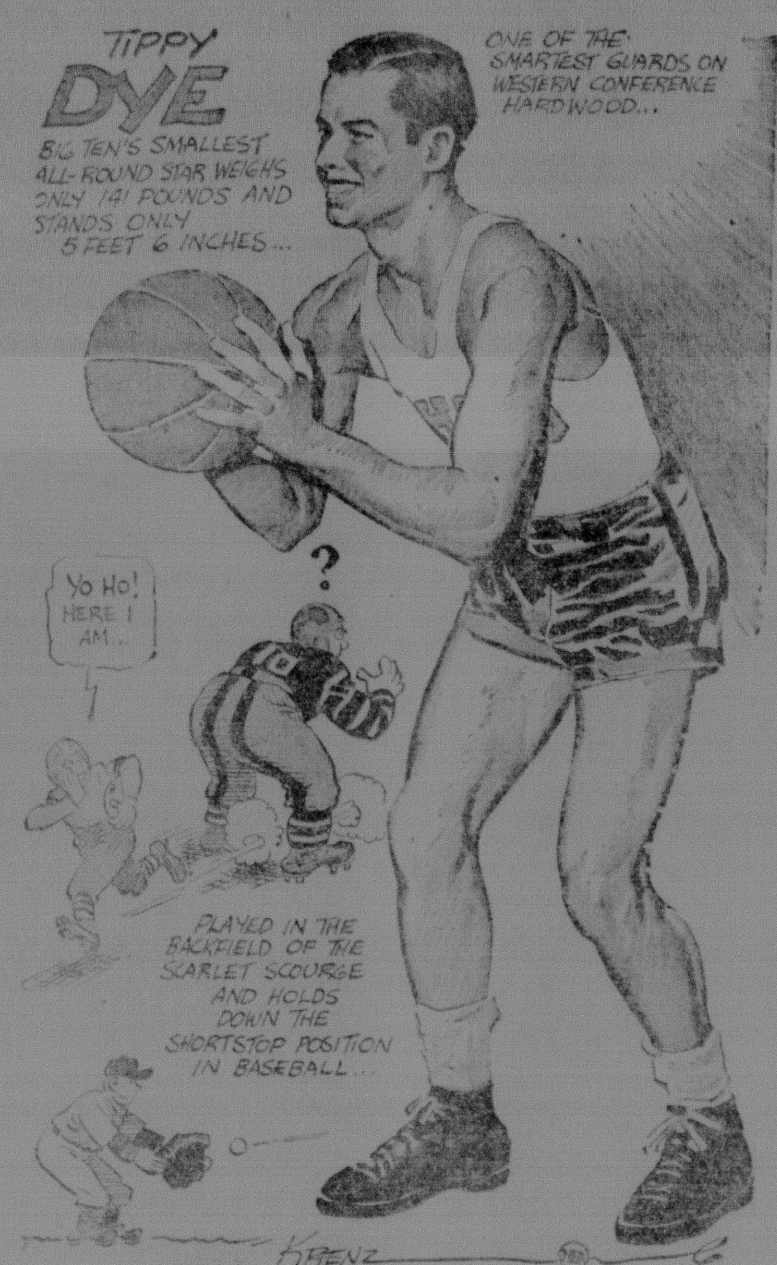

May stumbled over a semester chemistry examination and unless he is able to make up the work in a special examination will be lost for the remainder of the season. His plight became known yesterday when grades for the first semester's work were handed out.

Lasiter, whose illness Saturday dealt a blow to the Blueboys, continued to show improvement yesterday, and was expected to be out of the hospital in a week, and probably ready to play in another week, although this had not been determined definitely. He first noticed his ailment last Thursday night when he went to Quincy in below zero weather with Athletic Director Van Meter to appear at a Y. M. C. A. banquet, but said nothing about it until the following morning, after he had finished his duties at the college.

As soon as it was determined that Lasiter had contracted pneumonia, he was placed in an automobile and taken to the hospital. The malady affected only one of his lungs and was reported to be responding to treatment. He was sufficiently improved yesterday to ask for a radio and some reading matter.

Some gleam of hope followed the announcement that May would be ineligible in another statement that a youth named Miles, of Argo, had enrolled in college. He is reported to have a good record as a basketball player, and may be called upon to step into the open position.

All of the other cagers were reported to have weathered the examination storm, thus remaining eligible. Members of last fall's football squad also were said to have come through in good shape.

Frisch, Greenberg Get Baseball Awards

750 Persons Turn Out for Banquet in New York; Greenberg Hold-out

New York—(P)—Baseball men continued their mid-winter "huddles" today, engaging in trade talk and weighing details of schedule-making after being the target for good-natured gups at the New York chapter of the Baseball Writers' association.

The 13th annual banquet, attended last night by a record turnout of 750 sports followers, was marked by an ovation to former Mayor James J. Walker, as well as formal awards to Hank Greenberg of the Detroit Tigers and Frankie Frisch of the St. Louis Cardinals for outstanding baseball achievements.

The presentation to Walker of an engraved plaque, recognizing his authorship of the Sunday baseball law in New York state, prompted the former mayor to pay tribute to the sport as an institution which "devotes its energy, not to grasping down, but to building up aid to sportsmanship."

A telegram from President Roosevelt praised the "American institution of baseball" and felicitated the writers upon their part in building it up.

Greenberg, after receiving the award as the "player of the year" from President Will Harridge of the American League, revealed he had not yet signed his 1936 contract. The first baseman of the world champions said he expected "no difficulty" coming to terms, adding in casual tone that "there's only a little matter of $10,000 difference" on the subject between Manager Mickey Cochrane and himself.

Frisch, recipient of the award for outstanding contribution to the game over a period of time, suggested he might last five more years in active harness and hoped he would be in at least two more world series, thereby tying Babe Ruth's record of ten.

HERMANN READY TO START GIRLS' LOOPS

While considerable interest had been shown during preliminary arrangements for girls' volleyball and basketball, it has been found almost impossible to schedule games because of failure of groups to definitely organize into teams. A number of groups are expecting to enter teams but have as yet not made these entries definite.

Mr. Hermann of the Y. M. C. A. is ready to start the league at once if the young women want to play, but in order that he may know what teams to schedule for games, he asks that any groups who are going to have teams should communicate with him at the Y. M. C. A. office, phone 179.

Illinois High School Athlete Most of the Time Against Jerseyville Saturday Night Four Left Handers Were on the Floor

Coach Mark Peterman, of Springfield, declares he is ready for the tournaments right now. He claims his team hasn't clocked yet this year, and it's just about time they began hitting the hoop.

Peterman is changing his type of play this year, adopting a plan that Wallace Bapst worked out several years ago, but discarded this year when the three second free throw lane went into effect.

Peterman looked over the Crimsons Saturday night, along with Della Sorrells, whose Athenians are hitting a fast clip now that Markey has returned to the line-up. Sorrells will bring his Athens club over here this month for a game.

Four Team Tourney At Alsey Saturday

Play First Round In Afternoon And Finals At Night; Hillview Favored

Alsey, Feb. 3.—Four teams from the Tri-County league will gather here next Saturday for a four team tournament, being sponsored by Alsey High school. The four teams will play Saturday afternoon, and the winners and losers will meet at night in the final round.

Pairings for the tournament have pitted Alsey and Kamperville together in the first game, at 2:30 p. m. and Eldred and Hillview in the second game, to be called at 3:30 p. m. Losers of these games will meet at 7:30 and winners at 8:30 for the championship.

Hillview, runners-up in the Greene county tournament last week to Roodhouse, and winner of the Tri-County championship in a tournament last November, will be the favorites in the four team affair although Eldred has registered one victory over Hillview this year.

Alsey won the four team tournament last year.

Bob Grove Claims Arm Will Be Ready

New York—(P)—Bob (Lefty) Grove, of the fire ball and the sun-crushed face, says his arm is the whip of old and that American League batsmen can expect plenty of speed when he is on the mound this year.

The lanky southpaw who won 20 games for the Boston Red Sox last year, says his arm has fully recovered from soreness of two years ago and that he is ready for full and fancy duty with the team that already is reckoned with when people talk of late September. Grove isn't making any extravagant predictions as to where the Red Sox will land, with the infusion of their new and expensive talent, but he guarantees that the outfit will be a fighting one and a happy one.

In town for the annual dinner of the New York baseball writers last night, Grove said the Red Sox need to get working as a unit.

Pittsfield high all but put the finishing touches on its campaign to retain the Northwestern Division Illinois Valley basketball championship last Friday night when it handed Griggsville a set-back. The Indians need only one more victory, over either Griggsville or Bluffs, to clinch at least a share of the title, whereas a victory in both games would give them an undisputed claim to the title.

In the other division, White Hall has yet to put the clamps on the crown. They are booked to play at Carrollton and Jerseyville on successive nights this week, and have their golden opportunity ahead. By handing Jerseyville another defeat, as they have done when these two teams met before, the Maroons can almost coast the rest of the way through the schedule to a title.

Four games, two of which the White Hall team will play, are listed on the schedule for this week. Griggsville will invade Pleasant Hill, in the sole Northwestern league game, while White Hall plays at Carrollton, and Greenfield goes to Jerseyville. One inter-conference game involving Roodhouse and Winchester, also is on tap for the night. White Hall plays at Jerseyville Saturday night.

The schedule for the week:

Tuesday
Browning at Chandierville.
Rockbridge at Palmyra.
Petersburg at Ashland.

Wednesday
Virginia at Beardstown.

Thursday
Bluffs at Perry.

Friday
Griggsville at Pleasant Hill.
White Hall at Carrollton.

Winchester at Roodhouse.
Quincy at Pittsfield.
Ashland at Murrayville.

Cronin Says Foxx Might Break Mark

By Russell J. Newland
Associated Press Sports Writer
San Francisco, Feb. 3.—(P)—Joe Cronin, youthful manager of the Boston Red Sox, predicted today that Jimmy Foxx "would come close to if not break" Babe Ruth's American League home run record this year.

Cronin said Foxx, recent Red Sox acquisition, is "the greatest player in the game," adding:

"The setup for Foxx to better Ruth's record of 60 is perfect. He is joining a new club under ideal conditions. I wouldn't say Jimmy was bogged down with the Athletics last year but he had reached the stage where it was more or less of a routine."

Foxx hit 36 home runs in 1935.

"Our left field fence is a few feet shorter than what Foxx had to aim at in Philadelphia," Cronin added. "He'll have to hit the ball a bit higher, but when he gets hold of one no fence will stop him. It is a pretty big order to ask a man to hit as many home runs as the Babe did in 1927 but I am confident Jimmy has the stuff to do it."

Cronin described Foxx as "a player with a perfect baseball temperament."

Enthusiasm over the acquisition, not only of Foxx but of Roger Cramer and Heinie Manush, outfielders, Eric McNair, infielder and Johnny Marcum, pitcher, Cronin said he hoped to have the Red Sox "up in the race from the start."

He thinks the American League tussle will be between Detroit, Cleveland, the Yankees and the Red Sox.

"You have to rate Detroit favorite," he said. "The world's series champions undoubtedly will be strengthened with Al Simmons in the outfield. But it should be a fine race with none of the top teams making a walkaway of it."

Coach Walker Returns To Team But May Not Lead Them Tonight; Play At Mt. Pulaski On Friday

along in order to avoid the return of the intense pains which forced J. H. S. D. to remain home Friday and Saturday of last week while the team was adding a couple more victories to the string.

He did not plan to make the trip to Winchester, when discussing his condition yesterday, but was confident that he would be able to make the trip to Mt. Pulaski Friday night. Winchester is not being taken lightly by the lads who have gone on a long winning streak, for they recall the tight battle Andrew Chapman's charges gave White Hall, another of the outstanding teams of this section, before they went down to defeat. Whether Winchester will be able to dig up some means of checking the terrific Crimson speed and other handed shooting, something no left team has been able to do this year with the exception of Beardstown, remains to be seen.

The big test for the Crimsons will come Friday night when they play Mt. Pulaski. The Hilltoppers are scheduled for only one game this year, but will play in Jacksonville next year. Mt. Pulaski held the highly touted Edwardsville team to 19 points in losing a 19-14 decision last Saturday night.

The Crimsons will fire their heavy scoring battery of Danin, Lukeman, and Alb Kettner, forwards, Hamilton, center, Bellatti and Mokun, guards, at the Wildcats. They are booked for two games, the first to be called at 7 p. m. and the second at 8 p. m.

Officials at both schools, however, were casting uneasy eyes on the key condition of the highways, fearing that it might be necessary to call off the game. The Crimsons are scheduled for three games weekly from now until the end of the season.

Vets Aid Macomb in Ruth, Cobb, Wagner Rise to Loop Top Named Game Heroes

Only Three Teams Undefeated in Little 19 Conference at Present

Chicago—(P)—Four veteran performers, who aided in bringing Western Teachers a half interest in the Illinois Intercollegiate conference basketball championship last year, and an outstanding freshman have combined forces this season to again rate the western five as a likely contender for the crown.

Western Teachers won their 18th consecutive game of the season, and their sixth conference contest, last week in a 39-38 battle with Eastern Teachers. The triumph left the Macomb Five tied with Illinois Wesleyan for leadership in the standings.

Augustana, with five victories, is the only other undefeated five. Both Augustana and Wesleyan were idle last week, but the three leaders will each engage in two conference tilts this week.

Co-captains Carol Wood and Dan Robbins, a forward and a guard, are holdovers from last season's championship Macomb quintet. Wood at present is firmly entrenched in first place among the leading individual scorers of the conference.

Ted Means, a rangy lad specializing in a pivot shot, plays opposite Wood at forward, while Harold Henderson handles the center post.

Ferry Barlett, a member of the Quincy team which won the Illinois high school championship in 1934, has rated a guard position in his Freshman year, to round out the starting five.

The ranks of the undefeated were thinned last week by a 41 to 21 Carthage victory over Knox. Only eight of the 21 teams now boast records above the 500 mark.

This week's schedule lists 14 championship games, but does not draw any of the leaders together. Millikin, twice beaten but still rated as a serious threat, will meet Augustana at Decatur tonight in the highlight of the week's play.

Beautiful Scenery Along Rural Roads

Interesting News Items from White Hall: Coal Lack Closes Schools

White Hall—Those who have been brave enough to venture out on the roads say that the scenery between Carrollton and Kampsville and up and down the bluff road to Hillview is gorgeous just now with the snow on the bluffs along the Illinois river, and with evergreen trees peeping out on the bluffs through the snow. The road between White Hall and Hill-view and the Pearl ferry is also beautiful now. Most people make these drives in the spring time and in the fall because of the beauty of the foliage, but winter has its compensations also.

Mrs. Claude Shive was hostess to the members of the Daughters of Faith class of the First Baptist church Thursday evening. The new officers entertained. They are Mrs. William Owens, president; Mrs. Claude Shive, vice president; Mrs. Ray Linker, secretary; Mrs. Karl Vanderpool, treasurer. The roll call was New Year resolutions. A number of games were played but the feature of the evening was the paying in of a sum of money each member had earned and the telling in rhyme how she had earned it. Because of the severe cold weather not all of the members were present and the money is still being paid into the treasury.

Receives Extensive Report From A. L. Bowen

Associated Press Staff Writer, Springfield, Ill., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Governor Horner, close friend of the family of Richard Loeb, who was slain last week in a Stateville penitentiary, today received an extensive report from A. L. Bowen, who was in charge of the investigation of the slaying.

He heard an extensive report of the state's inquiry thus far from Weir, Director A. L. Bowen who recommended the appointment of an "outside" commission to investigate the death of the slayer of Bobby Frank, and other prison matters.

Mr. Horner has known Loeb's family for many years, the friendship dating back to the governor's early days as a lawyer in Chicago. Bowen, in recalling the friendship, said that only the day before Loeb's death the governor asked him how Loeb and his companion in the Frank death, Nathan Leopold, were getting along at Stateville, and that he frequently had inquired about the two young men.

As Governor Horner still continued because of bronchitis, received that report, early arrival of this week's session of the legislature indicated prompt action might be taken in the assembly for an inquiry by members into the prison system of the state.

Representative Richard Lyons, Liberal Republican, long a foe of the parole and pardon board, headed the minority group favoring investigation, while Majority Leader Benjamin S. Adamowski, Chicago, indicated he would not oppose such a move.

Speaker John Devine said he was not certain as to whether the investigation could be considered within the call of the two special sessions, but officers of both house said informally they believed a resolution of the type needed to launch the investigation was proper in any session.

Deputies And Pickets Battle At Pekin Plant

Five Men And Women Are Arrested After Bricks Fly Thru Air

Pekin, Ill., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Union pickets clashed twice with deputy sheriffs today as the American Distilling company resumed operations after a two-week shutdown.

Although Sheriff Ralph Goss and State's Attorney Nathan T. Eliff admitted the situation here was "critical," they denied reports that National Guard troops had been ordered in.

The first battle occurred early today, when about 100 pickets, armed with clubs and stones, attempted to stop the carrying workers into the plant. Stones were hurled at the bus, one of them broke a window of the sheriff's car.

Tear gas ended the first encounter, but several hours later a similar clash occurred as additional workers went into the plant.

Sheriff Goss said an extra supply of tear gas was brought in and held in readiness by 25 deputies who continued to hold their posts at the distillery's gate.

A number of state highway officers patrolled nearby roads.

Five men and a woman were arrested and charged with causing a riot as a result of the first clash. They were:

Mrs. Mildred Van Buren, Jim Griggs, A. H. Buchanan, Albert Buchanan Jr., John Litterer and Henry Waldron.

Waldron and Mrs. Van Buren were released when they posted $2,000 bond. The rest, the sheriff said, were lodged in the county jail.

Deputy Fire Marshal Walter Parlier, Peoria, opened an investigation of the burning today of a taxi cab. Officials said it might have been set fire to on the belief it was carrying food inside the plant to workers. Clarence Rupp, owner of the cab, said he was beaten by four men.

Union workers at the distilling plant are on strike in protest against what they claim is a violation of seniority rights by the management.

Hogs Scarce In Morgan County, Cattle Increase Farm Inventory Shows

A drastic reduction took place in the number of hogs in Morgan county between April 1, 1930 and January 1, 1935, according to a preliminary farm census report released yesterday by Director William L. Austin, Bureau of Census, Department of Commerce. From $6,935 head on the earlier date the number of hogs declined to 53,819 at the beginning of 1935.

Meanwhile, in common with most other counties of Illinois, cattle in Morgan county showed a definite increase and horses decreased. Cattle increased approximately 7,000 head, or to 26,236, and horses declined 700 head, or to 8,150.

The average value of individual farms in Morgan county, Illinois, declined $7,563 between April 1, 1930, and January 1, 1935, according to preliminary figures. The average value of the farms as reported to the census enumerators was $11,326.

Morgan county had 2,266 farms at the beginning of 1935 aggregating 340,854 acres, or an average of 150.5 acres each. Crops were harvested from 203,189 acres in 1934. Owing to the drought, the production of major crops, with the exception of wheat, was not as high in 1934 as in 1929. Wheat produced a better crop in 1934 than in 1929.

The principal crops of the county ranked according to acreage harvested in 1934 were corn, wheat, hay, and oats. Forty-two per cent of all crop land harvested in 1934 was in corn, a crop which occupied 86,094 acres in 1934. Wheat was grown on slightly more than half as much acreage as corn. Hay was harvested from 30,123 acres and oats grown on approximately 25,000 acres in 1934.

French Trying to Build Wall Around German Boundaries

Block Restoration of King in Austria in Effort to Check Germany

Paris—(AP)—French authorities pursued negotiations with Balkan rulers and statesmen today, authoritative sources said, in an attempt to raise a wall against German expansion in eastern Europe.

A welding of stronger ties with Balkan nations and re-establishment of their economic equilibrium through French, British and Russian trade concessions were reported to be France's major objectives.

A blocking of the campaign for restoration of the Hapsburgs, lest it benefit Germany by creating disorders and possibly splitting the Little Entente (Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia and Rumania) also was said to be part of the plan.

Foreign Minister Pierre-Etienne Flandin, taking the leading part for France in the negotiations with the Balkan representatives, arranged to confer with the regent Prince Paul of Yugoslavia, Hungarian Foreign Minister Kolomon von Kanya, Austrian Vice-Chancellor Prince Ernst von Starhemberg and Turkish Foreign Minister Tewfik Rustu Aras, and to continue his talks with King Boris of Bulgaria and King Carol of Rumania.

Prince Von Starhemberg arrived from London last night and went immediately to the Paris hotel where former Empress Zita of Austria was reported to be staying.

Diplomats said the vice chancellor agreed to tell Zita an Austrian enthronement of Archduke Otto of Hapsburg was "indefinitely postponed" after France, Britain and Russia joined the Little Entente in demanding rejection of plans for a Hapsburg restoration as the price for their support of Austrian independence.

General European diplomats said Vienna discarded the plan for a Hapsburg restoration also because of Austrian fears that Premier Mussolini was bargaining for the support of Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler, with Austria as the stake.

Debate At Waverly Postponed Monday

Postponement Of Contest Is Result Of Automobile Accident

Jacksville High School debaters were again disappointed yesterday when their scheduled meet with Waverly Township High School had to be postponed. Harold Gibson, Crumson coach, received a telephone call from A. W. Heath, Waverly principal and coach, that the debaters of that city had met with an accident Saturday when they went to Sparta for a practice contest. This is the second time that an automobile mishap has delayed a debate between these two teams. A year ago the car carrying the Waverly team to this city crashed in a heavy fog, injuring some of the occupants, and putting a stop to the W. T. H. S. debate activity for a time.

Although details of Saturday's accident were not learned, it is not thought to be of a serious nature.

This is the third straight meet for the local team that has been called off. Others were with Pittsfield last Wednesday, and the Augustana College invitational tournament at Rock Island last Friday and Saturday. A debate with Franklin scheduled to night has also been postponed until next Monday. Weather permitting, the affirmative team of Western Academy at Macon Teachers College will come to Jacksonville on Friday of this week for a debate with the J. H. S. negative. Mr. Gibson was back in school yesterday, having recovered from an illness that has kept him confined to his home for the past ten days.

Receives Extensive Re-

Bowen

Associated Press Staff Writer.
Springfield, Ill., Feb. 3.—Gov. Horner, close friend of the family of Richard Loeb, who was slain last week in a Stateville penitentiary cellhouse fight, today became a central figure in the state's investigation of the slaying.

He heard an extensive report of the state's inquiry thus far from Welfare Director A. L. Bowen, who recommended the appointment of an "outside" commission to investigate the death of the slayer of Bobby Franks, and other prison matters.

Mr. Horner has known Loeb's family for many years, the friendship dating back to the governor's early days as a lawyer in Chicago. Deputies And Pickets Battle At Pekin Plant

Five Men And Women Are Arrested After Bricks
Fly Thru Air

Pekin, Ill., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Union pickets clashed twice with deputy sheriffs today, as the American Distilling company resumed operations after a two-week shutdown. Although Sheriff Ralph Goar and State's Attorney Nathan T. Eliff admitted the situation here was "critical," they denied reports that National Guard troops had been ordered in.

The first battle occurred early today, when about 100 pickets, armed with clubs and stones, attempted to stop five carrying workers into the plant. Stones were hurled at the bus one of them broke a window of the sheriff's car.

Tear gas ended the first encounter, but several hours later a similar clash occurred as additional workers went into the plant. Sheriff Goar said an extra supply of tear gas was brought in and held in readiness by 25 deputies who continued to hold their posts at the distillery's gate.

A number of state highway officers patrolled nearby roads, and a half mile from the plant, a woman was arrested and charged with causing a riot as a result of the first clash. They were:

Mrs. Mildred Van Buren, Jim Griggs, A. H. Buchanan, Albert Buchanan Jr., John Litterer and Henry Waldron.

Waldron and Mrs. Van Buren were released when they posted $2,000 bonds. The rest, the sheriff said, were locked in the county jail.

Deputy Fire Marshal Walter Parlier, Peoria, opened an investigation of the burning today of a tax cab. Officials said it might have been set fire to on the belief it was carrying food inside the plant to workers. Clarence Rupp, owner of the cab, said he was beaten by four men.

Union workers at the distilling plant are on strike in protest against what they claim is a violation of seniority rights by the management.

A drastic reduction took place in the number of hogs in Morgan county between April 1, 1930 and January 1, 1935, according to a preliminary farm census report released yesterday by Director William L. Austin, Bureau of Census, Department of Commerce. From 86,095 head on the earlier date the number of hogs declined to 53,819 at the beginning of 1935.

Meanwhile, in common with most other counties of Illinois, cattle in Morgan county showed a definite increase and horses decreased. Cattle increased approximately 7,000 head, or to 26,236, and horses declined 700 head, or to 8,150.

The average value of individual farms in Morgan county, Illinois, declined $7,563 between April 1, 1930, and January 1, 1935, according to preliminary figures. The average value of the farms as reported to the census enumerators was $11,326.

Morgan county has 2,266 farms at the beginning of 1935 aggregating 340,954 acres, or an average of 150.5 acres each. Crops were harvested from 203,189 acres in 1934. Owing to the drought, the production of major crops, with the exception of wheat, was not as high in 1934 as in 1929. Wheat produced a better crop in 1934 than in 1929.

The principal crops of the county ranked according to acreage harvested in 1934 were corn, wheat, hay, and oats. Forty-two per cent of all crop land harvested in 1934 was in corn, a crop which occupied 86,094 acres in that year. Wheat was grown on slightly more than half as much acreage as corn. Block Restoration of King in Austria in Effort to Check Germany

Paris.—(AP)—French authorities pursued negotiations with Balkan rulers and statesmen today, authoritative sources said, in an attempt to raise a wall against German expansion in eastern Europe.

A welding of stronger ties with Balkan nations and re-establishment of their economic equilibrium through French, British and Russian trade concessions were reported to be France's major objectives.

A blocking of the campaign for restoration of the Hapsburgs, lest it benefit Germany by creating disorders and possibly splitting the Little Entente (Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia and Rumania) also was said to be part of the plan.

Foreign Minister Pierre-Etienne Flandin, taking the leading part for France in the negotiations with the Balkan representatives, arranged to confer with the regent Prince Paul of Yugoslavia, Hungarian Foreign Minister Kolomon Von Kanya, Austrian Vice-Chancellor Prince Ernst Von Starheimberg and Turkish Foreign Minister Tewfik Rustu Aras, and to continue his talks with King Boris of Bulgaria and King Carol of Rumania.

Prince Von Starheimberg arrived from London last night and went immediately to the Paris hotel where former Empress Zita of Austria was reported to be staying.

Diplomats said the vice chancellor agreed to tell Zita an Austrian enthronement of Archduke Otto of Hapsburg was "indefinitely postponed" after France, Britain and Russia joined the Little Entente in demanding rejection of plans for a Hapsburg restoration as the price for their support of Austrian independence.

Central European diplomats said Vienna discarded the plan for a Hapsburg restoration also because of Austrian fears that Premier Mussolini was bargaining for the support of Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler, with Austria as the stake.

Debate At Waverly Postponed Monday

Postponement Of Contest Is
Result Of Automobile
Accident

Jacksonville High School debaters were again disappointed yesterday when their scheduled meet with Waverly Township High School had to be postponed. Harold Gibson, Crimmon coach, received a telephone call from A. W. Heath, Waverly principal and coach, that the debaters of that school had met with an accident Saturday when they went to Sparta for a practice contest. This is the second time that an automobile mishap has delayed a debate between these two teams. A year ago the car carrying the Waverly team to this city crashed in a heavy fog, injuring some of the occupants, and putting a stop to the W. H. S. debate activity for a time.

Although details of Saturday's accident were not learned, it is not thought to be of a serious nature. This is the third straight meet for the local team that has been called off. Others were with Pittsfield last Wednesday, and the Augustana College invitational tournament at Rock Island last Friday and Saturday. A debate with Franklin scheduled tonight has also been postponed until next Monday. Weather permitting, the affirmative team of Western Academy at Macon Teachers College will come to Jacksonville on Friday of this week for a debate with the J. H. S. negative. Mr. Gibson was back in school yesterday, having recovered from an illness that has kept him confined to his home for the past ten days.

U.S. Court Rules on Bank Tax

Clarifies Relationship of State and Federal Government in decision; Decision is Unanimous.

GRANT TAX PRIVILEGE

Washington—(AP)—In an opinion further clarifying the relationship between the federal and state governments, the Supreme Court held today that Maryland may tax preferred stock of the Baltimore National Bank owned by the Reconstruction Corporation.

NO TVA DECISION

Washington—(AP)—The Supreme Court concluded delivering opinions today without passing on the constitutionality of TVA. That made next Monday the earliest possible date for delivering the long awaited decision.

The court, in an hour and a half session before hearing arguments on other matters, did agree to pass on the constitutionality of another New Deal law—the Securities act.

J. Edward Jones, New York City dealer in oil securities, won a review of lower federal court rulings which found the law valid and held the Securities and Exchange Commission had power to enforce it.

The unanimous decision, applicable in all states, was delivered by Justice Cardozo.

Maryland's highest tribunal, the court of appeals, had held the stock was subject to state taxation.

State tax commission attorneys contended to the supreme court that the RFC did not perform an essential governmental function and hence its $1,000,000 of stock should be taxed.

"It cannot be denied," they said, "that the mere lending of money to industry has heretofore been exclusively a private and not a public function, much less a function of the federal government."

Asserting that "no state may tax the property or instrumentalities of the United States," the bank contended the RFC "is an arm or department of the federal government and is an appropriate instrumentality to acquire property for and on behalf of the federal government."

SNOW AND SLEET IN SOUTHERN ILLINOIS SLOW UP TRAFFIC

Centralia, Ill.—(AP)—A heavy snow fell over the week-end and sleet today made driving hazardous on many Southern Illinois highways today.

Highways between Centralia and Harrisburg were reported covered with ice.

Large transport trucks were reported unable to climb the hills on Route 13, between Harrisburg and Marion because of the ice.

ICY HIGHWAYS MAKING TRAVELING DANGEROUS

Springfield, Ill.—(AP)—Sleet on highways in central Illinois made automobile travel hazardous today, the division of highways reported.

The icy pavement condition extended from Route 15 to territory north of Peoria. Highway workers were busy marking the most slippery places.

A mist which grew quickly fell over part of the area during the morning.

LEAPS TO DEATH

Springfield—(AP)—John Campbell, 22, was killed when he fell or leaped from the third story window of a ballroom. Police quoted acquaintances as saying he was disappointed in a love affair.

Italians Get Large Territory

10,000 Square Miles of New Territory Taken from Ethiopia in Drive; Push on Toward Allata.

CONTROL WATERWAYS

(Copyright, 1936, by the A.P.)

With the Southern Italian Army at Neghelli, Jan. 30—(Via Mogadiscio, Italian Somaliland, Feb. 3)—The Italian high command claimed control today of a vast area of southern Ethiopia extending from Italian Somaliland half way to Addis Ababa.

WAR TENSION MOUNTS

Addis Ababa—(AP)—War tension mounted in Ethiopia's capital today as the government took steps to retrieve its position on the southern front and the streets became recruiting centers.

Two prominent chieftains, Dedjazmatch Bayenna and Dedjazmatch Ababa, hastened to the south with 60,000 troops to bolster the forces of Ras Desta Demtu, falling back before the Italian army.

Government authorities, however, said they felt an alarm over the situation. Interpreting the Fascist advance as a scouting foray into territory the Italians would not attempt to hold.

The hard-riding "hell on wheels" column, driving up the valley of the Gannale Doria from Dolo, has forced the Ethiopians back 80 miles farther from Neghelli toward the vital town of Allata.

This would place Gen. Rodolfo Graziani's mechanized column 215 miles northwest of Dolo, starting point of the offensive, and about 225 miles directly south of Addis Ababa, with some 50 miles to go to Allata.

At the same time, the column advancing along the parallel valley of the Dawa Parma has pushed north about 200 miles, capturing approximately 10,000 square miles of new territory.

This advance, farther to the south-west along the British Kenya colony border, Italian officers said, has given the mobile units of the second Italian division control of all water supplies in southern Ethiopia half way from Dolo to Addis Ababa.

The Gannale Doria offensive, launched Dec. 12 from Dolo, on the Ethiopia-Italian Somaliland frontier, continues with the mechanized columns relentlessly pursuing Ras Desta Demtu, son-in-law of Emperor Haile Selassie, toward his capital.

Advance units of the cavalrymen are approaching Allata, and have overcome a fierce counter-attack.

The Ethiopians are retreating in virtual panic, but are fighting desperately as they are overtaken by the Italian machine gunners and infantry.

Warren Irving of the Meredosa community was a business visitor in the city yesterday.

YOUNG WOMEN MEET, REORGANIZE CLUB

White Hall—The Young, Married Women's sewing club met recently at the home of Mrs. Harold Culbertson on Centennial avenue, and re-organized the club. Mrs. Elmer Winn was chosen president. There will be no other officers. A new name will be adopted at the next meeting. The club will meet the last Thursday in the month for sewing and once each month will entertain the husbands on a date to be decided by the entertaining hostess. Those in the club are Mrs. Elmer Winn, Mrs. Kenneth Davis, Mrs. William White, Mrs. Harold Culbertson, Mrs. Henry Pruitt, Mrs. Leslie Forrester and Mrs. Ross Robley.

Firemen were called out twice Sunday, but the department's record shows no damage at either destination. Sunday afternoon an alarm was turned in from the home of E. P. Nunes, 903 Allen avenue, where loose wiring set fire to a car in the garage. The blaze was put out before the arrival of the department. At 6:38 o'clock in the evening a chimney burned out at the home of W. D. Loneragan, 134 South East street. Firemen watched the fire ready to intervene if necessary.

AUTOMOBILES COLLIDE AT WEST STATE INTERSECTION

U.S. Court Rules on Bank Tax

Clarifies Relationship of State and Federal Government in decision; Decision is Unanimous.

GRANT TAX PRIVILEGE

Washington—(AP)—In an opinion further clarifying the relationship between the federal and state governments, the Supreme Court held today that Maryland may tax preferred stock of the Baltimore National Bank owned by the Reconstruction Corporation.

NO TVA DECISION

Washington—(AP)—The Supreme Court concluded delivering opinions today without passing on the constitutionality of TVA. That made next Monday the earliest possible date for delivering the long-awaited decision.

The court, in an hour and a half session before hearing arguments on other matters, did agree to pass on the constitutionality of another New Deal law—the Securities act.

J. Edward Jones, New York City dealer in oil securities, won a review of lower federal court rulings which found the law valid and held the Securities and Exchange Commission had power to enforce it.

The unanimous decision, applicable in all states, was delivered by Justice Cardozo.

The STRANGE CASE of JULIA CRAIG

by Nerd Jones

Copyright NEA 1935

BEGIN HERE TODAY
JULIA CRAIG, secretary to GEORGE WOODFORD, lawyer, is about to become a night club singer. She shares an apartment with AMY SANDERS.
PETER KEMP, young lawyer, is in love with Julia, but they quarrel and she tells him everything she knows about him.
Woodford gives a party and asks Julia to come as a guest. The guests include GUY LEE, dancer; MRS. JOSEPH WILSON; HUGO NASH, and ROYAL NESBITT.
Julia goes, later regrets it. The night finds at Evergreen Island where Woodford has a lodge. Julia meets TOM PAYSON, camp-leader, who offers to help her get away.
The men go hunting and Nesbitt is injured. Woodford's party leaves immediately to get him to a doctor.
Back home, Julia is hired to sing on TOM PAYSON's gambling ship. Tom Payson comes to the ship frequently. One night, after Tom had won heavily, Tony tells Julia she must discourage Tom from leaving early.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XVII

JULIA looked at Tony Latta. "I'll—I'll tell Mr. Payson," she said.

"I think I would, Julia." She hurried to the nearest gambling room, searching the scores of faces, but Payson was not present. Neither was he at the tables in the other two gambling rooms. Her heart pounding, Julia walked swiftly out into the darkness of the dock. She saw him standing by the rail, lighting a cigaret.

"Tom!" He whirled swiftly. "Why, Julia! What's wrong? You're trembling." He took her arms firmly in his strong hands.

"You're won again, haven't you?" He grinned. "You certainly are my lucky charm, Julia."

"But—you can't stop playing now, Tom."

"I've a date with you, haven't I?" he said. "I'll give them another chance. I always do, you know. Let's go." He started down the deck.

"Tom, I wouldn't. . . ." Her voice trailed helplessly into silence. He turned to face her. "Look here," he said, "what's all this about? I—Julia, I didn't think you got a cut-in on the tables."

She was too frightened to take offense at his remark. "Tom, it isn't that. But Latta warned me."

"Oh . . . I begin to see. He hoped you'd manage to make me stay." Payson drew a long breath. "Well, I object to being told when I should play—and I object to his trying to make a catnap of you. Now let's get out of here." He took her arm and started down the deck toward the stair which led to the mooring platform.

"I'm afraid," Julia whispered. "The way Latta looked when he—"

"We're leaving," Payson said, gripping her arm more firmly.

They had taken only a few steps when a tall dark man stepped out from the rail. "Going so early?" he asked pleasantly, and stood directly in their path.

"Yes," Payson's words were clipped. "Good evening."

BUT the man did not move. "It was a good evening, wasn't it?" "I can't see that's any of your business," Payson said.

court of appeals, had held the stock was subject to state taxation.

State tax commission attorneys contended to the supreme court that the RFC did not perform an essential governmental function and hence its $1,000,000 of stock should be taxed.

It cannot be denied," they said, "that the mere lending of money to industry has heretofore been exclusively a private, and not a public, function, much less a function of the federal government."

Asserting that "no state may tax the property or instrumentalities of the United States," the bank contended the RFC "is an arm or department of the federal government and is an appropriate instrumentality to acquire property for and on behalf of the federal government."

SNOW AND SLEET IN SOUTHERN ILLINOIS SLOW UP TRAFFIC

Centerville, Ill.—(AP)—A heavy snow fell over the week-end and sleet today made driving hazardous on many Southern Illinois highways today.

Highways between Centerville and Harrisburg, were reported covered with ice.

Large transport trucks were reported unable to climb the hills on Route 13, between Harrisburg and Marion because of the ice.

ICY HIGHWAYS MAKING TRAVELING DANGEROUS

Springfield, Ill.—(AP)—Sleet on highways in central Illinois made automobile travel hazardous today, the division of highways reported.

The icy pavement condition extended from Route 15 to territory north of Peoria. Highway workers were busy marking the most slippery places.

A mist which froze quickly fell over part of the area during the morning.

LEAPS TO DEATH

Springfield—(AP)—John Campbell, 22, was killed when he fell or leaped from the third story window of a ballroom. Police quoted acquaintances as saying he was disappointed in a love affair.

Italians Get Large Territory

10,000 Square Miles of New Territory Taken from Ethiopia in Drive; Push on Toward Allata.

CONTROL WATERWAYS

(Copyright, 1936, by the AP.)

With the Southern Italian Army at Neghelli, Jan. 30—(Via Mogadiscio, Italian Somaliland, Feb. 3)—The Italian high command claimed control today of a vast area of southern Ethiopia extending from Italian Somaliland half way to Addis Ababa.

WAR TENSION MOUNTS

Addis Ababa—(AP)—War tension mounted in Ethiopia's capital today as the government took steps to retrieve its position on the southern front and the streets became recruiting centers.

Two prominent chieftains, Dedjazmach Bayenna and Dedjazmach Ababa, hastened to the south with 60,000 troops to bolster the forces of Ras Desta Demtu, falling back before the Italian army.

Government authorities, however, said they felt no alarm over the situation, interpreting the Fascist advance as a scouting foray into territory the Italians would not attempt to hold.

The hard-riding "hell on wheels" column, driving up the valley of the Ganale Doria from Dolo, has forced the Ethiopians back 80 miles farther from Neghelli toward the vital town of Allata.

(This would place Gen. Rudolfo Graziani's mechanized column, 275 miles northwest of Dolo, starting point of the offensive, and about 225 miles directly south of Addis Ababa, with some 50 miles to go to Allata.)

At the same time, the column advancing along the parallel valley of the Dawa Parma has pushed north about 200 miles, capturing approximately 10,000 square miles of new territory.

This advance, farther to the southwest along the British Kenya colony border, Italian officers said, has given the mobile units of the second Italian division control of all water supplies in southern Ethiopia half way from Dolo to Addis Ababa.

The Ganale Doria offensive, launched Dec. 12 from Dolo, on the Ethiopia-Italian Somaliland frontier, continues with the motorized cavalrymen relentlessly pursuing Ras Desta Demtu, son-in-law of Emperor Haile Selassie, toward his capital.

Move For Harmony By Republicans Apparently Ended

Monday's Meeting Is Marked
By Unanimous "Slate"
Disapproval

Unless the candidates themselves can enter into an agreement for a new line up yesterday's so-called harmony meeting held at Springfield by Republicans marked the final effort made to select the "strongest" candidate for governor. With two-thirds of the downstate counties represented at the meeting it was apparent to an outside observer that there were varied points of view on one phase of the gubernatorial situation but an almost unanimous opinion on another phase. The committee had various ideas as to who should have the nomination for governor but most of them are unanimous in their opinion the issue should be decided at the April primary election unless candidates eliminate themselves.

Yesterday's meeting at the Abraham Lincoln hotel in Springfield marked what appears to be the final effort of Republicans both in Cook county and downstate to select a "strongest" candidate for governor. Last month a meeting was held at Springfield and was unsuccessful and downstate Republicans made the same attempt. Judge Paul Samuel of this city was chairman of the downstate committee which was formed early last month to attempt to select a candidate that would be acceptable to most of the Republican leaders in Illinois.

Monday's meeting at Springfield was called for the purpose of attempting to pick a downstate candidate. Invitations had been extended to the 191 county chairmen downstate and more than seventy counties were represented at the meeting either by chairman or proxy. All of the ten counties in the Twentieth Congressional district, with the exception of Morgan county, was officially represented, and the majority of the twentieth district chairmen agreed with the large majority of the chairmen who attended the conference that nothing could be gained by holding the meeting.

Meeting Adjourns
Adopting a single resolution endorsing the right of all persons to enter the party primary and pledging support to nominees the "harmony" conference yesterday adjourned without disorder. Adjournment followed the disapproval of a resolution of the county chairmen, who urged the county chairmen to urge the "dozen or more" candidates and prospective candidates for governor to meet together and select the strongest candidate among them, the others, over their signatures, to pledge support of him.

Even before the Seale resolution was voted upon there were "moves" for adjournment, repeated efforts being made to bring an adjournment motion to a vote. From all sections of the conference there were cries of "move us adjourn."

Several county representatives took the floor to ask that the motion be voted upon with small efforts being made to ward off the adjournment. Judge Samuel, who presided at the meeting, at first refused to recognize the motion to adjourn but the delegates became so insistent that he yielded and immediately there was a shout of approval of the motion and the delegates began moving out of the conference room.

Seale, who offered a resolution urging the meeting of candidates, stated privately after the meeting that three gubernatorial candidates had agreed to abide by the resolution. Seale did not disclose the names of the three candidates. H. Wallace Caldwell, a Cook county candidate was not in Springfield during the meeting and neither was former Governor Len Small.

No Bitterness
There was no bitterness apparent at the conference only a very definite move on the part of the majority to be a party to no so-called "slate making." In the corridors and rooms at the Lincoln hotel there was little disparagement of opposing candidates heard by other contestants. They seemed to be in agreement on a statement made by one of the gubernatorial candidates who said, "I am not against anybody I am for myself."

C. Wayland Brooks gave a dinner in the hotel Sunday night at which 45 counties outside of Chicago were represented, 23 of the counties being represented by county chairmen. Following the dinner and Mr. Brooks' talk in which he outlined plans for his campaign, Judge Bristow, circuit judge of Edgar county, introduced the county representatives and discussed conditions in their communities as they saw them.

Cook county committee men told of plans being made for Brooks in Chicago and downstate representatives who were present from all sections of Illinois described the outlook in their counties. Many pledges of support were made to Brooks. Brooks' supporters who attended the dinner meeting also attended the "harmony" conference yesterday afternoon and their Sunday night forces were augmented by additional county chairmen and representatives.

Congressman Short Charges Democrats Prolonged Depression

"I charge that this administration has deliberately prolonged this depression, increasing the misery of the masses, while it seeks to fasten upon the American people a type of government foreign to the fundamental principles of Americanism." This startling statement formed a part of an address delivered at a Republican rally in the high school auditorium last night by Congressman Dewey Short of Galena, Mo. The speaker, an orator of considerable force and linguistic ability, played the New Deal and warned hearers that unless the entire setup were "blown out of the water" next November, "it may be the last election we'll have for sometime to come."

The rally was attended by representatives of many of the counties in the 20th district and by Republican leaders from this city and county. Considering the inclement weather, the audience was fair. Harry T. Strawn, chairman of the county Republican Central Committee, opened the meeting and stated that this was the beginning of a series of meetings that will feature the 1936 Republican campaign in this district. He presented Representative Hugh Green, who was chairman of the meeting and introduced the speakers of the meeting.

The first speaker on the program was former Congressman William E. Hull of Peoria. He urged the voters to elect a Republican to Congress from the district this fall, and charged that the Democratic representatives and senators from Illinois have done little or nothing for the people of the state. "The things they have tried to do for the farmer," he said, "have not helped him. It might be better to consider what the Republican party tried to do for the farmer."

"Congress passed the McNary-Haugen bill, which the President vetoed. I believe that bill would have been of actual help. We worked with Secretary Hyde to get the words 'corn sugar' removed from canis of fruit, because the housewives did not understand what they meant. But the corn sugar used in canning and preserving enables the farmer to sell 35,000,000 bushels of corn annually."

"We tried to get through Congress a bill to place a duty on 'black strap' molasses from Cuba, which is used in making alcohol. If that law had not been blocked by the Democrats who aided the sugar trust, the farmer would have found a market for an added 40,000,000 bushels of corn, which have been used in the manufacture of alcohol."

"By adding only 2% of alcohol to gasoline it would be possible to add another 40,000,000 bushels to the total corn the farmer could sell. If the plans I have consistently advocated were put into operation, the farmer would sell 200,000,000 bushels more of corn, which would take up any surplus he might have."

"I worked for the Illinois waterway bill, which has brought a nine-foot channel to the Illinois river. If the present administration would spend a couple of millions now in raising the height of dams being built near Peoria, that channel could be fourteen feet deep, and boats from New York harbor could come thru the Great Lakes and into the Illinois river to Peoria, giving the farmer an outlet for his products on the eastern seaboard. Congressmen should realize that these improvements are made."

Dewey Short Speaks
Mr. Green next introduced Congressman Dewey Short, the only Republican representative from Missouri. He said in part:

"When the man who sits in the White House and smiles while we suffer flew to Chicago in 1932, he stood before the Democratic convention and accepted the nomination and the platform. He said the platform suited him a hundred per cent. It was a good platform, one of the best ever written. It had been prepared by Al Smith, Carter Glass and Albert Ritchie. Under that platform Candidate Roosevelt promised the American people he would cut government expenses, balance the budget, stand by sound money, and within two years end unemployment. That was before the election."

"Once he was inaugurated, he forgot the men who made the platform, surrounded himself with brain-trusters who came down from Columbia and Harvard. He took into his bosom Felix Frankfurter, born in Vienna and steeped in the teachings of Carl Marx, who in turn brought in a group of his own law students from Harvard. All are shrewd socialist lawyers, who are leading the government into strange paths. You people do not know what is happening to you in Washington."

"He has started and pushed forward a strange deal, with taxes as the joker. Just now the people are beginning to realize that all this money that has been spent must be paid back, and the dark cloud of inflation is hovering over Washington. Only today the President called on Congress to repeal the cotton, tobacco and potato control acts. It has taken a long time for him to understand that this legislation is un-American and vicious."

Move For Harmony By Republicans Apparently Ended

Monday's Meeting Is Marked
By Unanimous "Slate"
Disapproval

Unless the candidates themselves can enter into an agreement for a new line up yesterday's so called harmony meeting held at Springfield by Republicans marked the final efforts made to select the "strongest" candidate for governor. With two-thirds of the downstate counties represented at the meeting it was apparent to an outside observer that there were varied points of view on one phase of the gubernatorial situation but an almost unanimous opinion on another phase. The committee have various ideas as to who should have the nomination for governor but most of them are unanimous in their opinion the issue should be decided at the April primary election unless candidates eliminate themselves.

Yesterday's meeting at the Abraham Lincoln hotel in Springfield marked what appears to be the final efforts of the downstate counties both in Cook county and downstate to select a "harmony ticket." Cook county Republicans who claimed to be leaders early last month attempted to serve upon a candidate and were unsuccessful and downstate Republicans made the same attempt. Judge Paul Samuel of this city was chairman of the downstate committee which was formed early last month to attempt to select a candidate that would be acceptable to most of the Republican leaders in Illinois.

Monday's meeting at Springfield was called for the purpose of attempting to pick a downstate candidate. Invitations had been extended to the 101 county chairmen downstate and more than seventy counties were represented at the meeting either by chairman or proxy. All of the ten counties in the Twentieth Congressional district, with the exception of Morgan county, was officially represented, and the majority of the twentieth district chairmen agreed with the large majority of the chairmen who attended the conference that nothing could be gained by holding the meeting.

Meeting Adjourns
Adopting a single resolution endorsing the right of all persons to enter the party primary and pledging support to nominees the "harmony" conference yesterday adjourned without disorder. Adjournment followed the disapproval of a resolution offered by Erba Seale, Montgomery county chairman, which urged "the dozen or more candidates and prospective candidates for governor to meet together and select the strongest candidate among them, then, over their signatures, to pledge support of him."

Even before the Seale resolution was voted upon there were "moves" for adjournment, repeated efforts being made to bring an adjournment motion to a vote. From all sections of the conference floor there were cries of "move we adjourn."

Several county representatives took the floor to ask that the motion be voted upon with small efforts being made to ward off the adjournment. Judge Samuel, who presided at the meeting, at first refused to recognize the motion to adjourn but the delegates became so insistent that he yielded and immediately there was a shout of approval of the motion and the delegates began moving out of the conference room.

Seale, who offered a resolution urging the meeting of candidates, stated privately after the meeting, that three gubernatorial candidates had agreed to abide by the resolution. Seale did not disclose the names of the three candidates. H. Wallace Caldwell, a Cook county candidate, was not in Springfield during the meeting and neither was former Governor Len Small.

No Bitterness
There was no bitterness apparent at the conference only a very definite move on the part of the majority to be a party to no so called "slate making." In the corridors and rooms at the Lincoln hotel there was little disparagement of opposing candidates heard by other contestants. They seemed to be in agreement on a statement made by one of the gubernatorial candidates who said, "I am not against anybody I am for myself."

C. Wayland Brooks gave a dinner in the hotel Sunday night at which 45 counties outside of Chicago were represented, 23 of the counties being represented by county chairmen. Following the dinner and Mr. Brooks' talk in which he outlined plans for his campaign, Judge Bristow, circuit judge of Edgar county, introduced the county representatives who spoke of conditions in their communities as they saw them.

Cook county committeemen told of plans being made for Brooks in Chicago and downstate representatives who were present from all sections of Illinois described the outlook in their counties. Many pledges of support were made to Brooks. Brooks supporters who attended the dinner meeting also attended the "harmony" conference yesterday afternoon and their Sunday night forces were augmented by additional county chairmen and representatives.

Congressman Short Charges Democrats Prolonged Depression

"I charge that this administration has deliberately prolonged this depression, increasing the misery of the masses, while it seeks to fasten upon the American people a type of government foreign to the fundamental principles of Americanism." This startling statement formed a part of an address delivered at a Republican rally in the high school auditorium last night by Congressman Dewey Short of Galena, Mo. The speaker, an orator of considerable force and linguistic ability, flayed the New Deal and warned hearers that unless the entire setup were "blown out of the water" next November, "it may be the last election we'll have for sometime to come."

The rally was attended by representatives of many of the counties in the 20th district and by Republican leaders from this city and county. Considering the inclement weather, the audience was fair. Harry T. Strawn, chairman of the county Republican Central Committee, opened the meeting and stated that this was the beginning of a series of meetings that will feature the 1936 Republican campaign in this district. He presented Representative Hugh Green, who was chairman of the meeting and introduced the speakers of the meeting.

The first speaker on the program was former Congressman William E. Hull of Peoria. He urged the voters to elect a Republican to Congress from the district this fall, and charged that the Democratic representatives and senators from Illinois have done little or nothing for the people of the state. "The things they have tried to do for the farmer," he said, "have not helped him. It might be well to consider what the Republican party tried to do for the farmer."

"Congress passed the McNary-Haugen bill, which the President vetoed. I believe that bill would have been of actual help. We worked with Secretary Hyde to get the words 'corn sugar' removed from cans of fruit, because the housewives did not understand what they meant. But the corn sugar used in canning and preserving enables the farmer to sell 35,000,000 bushels of corn annually."

"We tried to get through Congress a bill to place a duty on 'black strap' molasses from Cuba, which is used in making alcohol. If that law had not been blocked by the Democrats who aided the sugar trust, the farmer would have found a market for an added 40,000,000 bushels of corn, which would have been used in the manufacture of alcohol."

"By adding only 2% of alcohol to gasoline, it would be possible to add another 40,000,000 bushels to the total corn the farmer could sell. If the plans I have consistently advocated were put into operation the farmer would sell 200,000,000 bushels more of corn, which would take up any surplus he might have."

"I worked for the Illinois waterway bill, which has brought a nine-foot channel to the Illinois river. If the present administration would spend a couple of millions now in raising the height of dams being built near Peoria, that channel could be fourteen feet deep and boats from New York harbor could come thru the Great Lakes and into the Illinois river to Peoria, giving the farmer an outlet for his products on the eastern seaboard. Congressmen should see that these improvements are made."

Dewey Short Speaks.
Mr. Green next introduced Congressman Dewey Short, the only Republican representative from Missouri. He said in part:

"When the man who sits in the White House and smiles while we suffer flew to Chicago in 1932, he stood before the Democratic convention and accepted the nomination and the platform. He said the platform suited him a hundred per cent. It was a good platform, one of the best ever written. It had been prepared by Al Smith, Carter Glass and Albert Ritchie. Under that platform Candidate Roosevelt promised the American people he would cut government expenses, balance the budget, stand by sound money, and within two years end unemployment. That was before the election."

"Once he was inaugurated, he forgot the men who made the platform, surrounded himself with brain-trusters who came down from Columbia and Harvard. He took into his bosom Felix Frankfurter, born in Vienna and steeped in the teachings of Carl Marx, who in turn brought in a group of his own law students from Harvard. All are shrewd socialist lawyers, who are leading the government into strange paths. You people do not know what is happening to you in Washington."

"He has started and pushed forward a strange deal, with taxes as the joker. Just now the people are beginning to realize that all this money that has been spent must be paid back, and the dark cloud of inflation is hovering over Washington. Only today the President called on Congress to repeal the cotton, tobacco and potato control acts. It has taken a long time for him to understand that this legislation is un-American and vicious."

"I come from a hill-billy country. We never went to Harvard or Columbia, but we have a bay horse sense enough to know that you can't return to prosperity by spending money you haven't got and passing the payment of your debts to future generations."

"He and his administration have unbalanced the budget, and have added an extraordinary budget, which is also unbalanced. He has raised the debt from 22 to 35 billion dollars in three years, and the interest on the public debt is now more than it cost to run this government before the World War."

"He promised sound money, but he had not been in office six weeks before we were off the gold standard. The government took the gold that was the lawful property of American citizens and paid them in 59-cent dollars."

"He promised to get rid of unemployment, but today there are 11,750,000 unemployed in this nation, and 20,000,000 persons receiving relief, dole that is eating like a cancer at the heart of the nation. The people are becoming aroused to what this strange new deal has done to them, and the whole thing is going to be blown out of the water."

Snow, Sleet Make Travel Risky Here As Barometer Falls

Rain Freezes on Windshields,
Pavements: Bad Conditions
Reported as General

The barometer has taken a nose dive, according to reports of Dr. F. P. Norbury, local weather observer. The reading Monday morning was 29.90, which is a considerable drop from the high of 30.56, that marked the peak of the cold wave last week and at 7 o'clock last night, had dropped to 29.50 the lowest in the history of the local weather bureau.

The temperature reading at 7 o'clock Monday morning was 17 degrees above zero. The plunge of the barometer indicates precipitation, consisting of either snow or rain. The wind blew yesterday from the north-east.

Snow began falling early yesterday morning, but changed to sleet and rain later in the day. The rain froze as it fell and along to roads and sidewalks. Auto windshields were hard to clear as the storm thickened.

Travel on the roads became dangerous. Reports from the east showed conditions growing worse, and trucks unable to make time on the icy roads. Springfield reported weather similar to this city, and it was getting slippery in St. Louis.

Reports from the Jacksonville Auto Club showed slippery highways throughout this section and pretty much all over the middle west. It was sleeting over the entire route between here and St. Louis, and conditions to the east were reported worse than in this vicinity.
